State Rep Heads Effort To Eliminate PMMB Pricing Authority

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

ARDMORE (Montgomery Co.) — The state House of Representatives State Government Committee held a public hearing Wednesday at the Lower Merion Township building in Ardmore to collect testimony on a legislative proposal that would eliminate the authority of the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board (PMMB) to set minimum retail prices.

The proposal, House Bill 2628, was made by state Rep. Colleen Sheehan, R-King of Prussia, who in her Wednesday testimony said her intent in proposing the legislation was on behalf of "the taxpayers and schools," claiming that the PMMB's practice of setting minimum retail prices for fluid milk is "corporate welfare."

She cited a 67-cent difference in retail price of a gallon of milk sold in same-chain supermarket stores — one in Pennsylvania, the other in Maryland which does not have minimum retail prices for milk — as evidence that Pennsylvanians are in essence being gouged by the PMMB.

"Are Pennsylvania consumers and children being milked? Why are a few industry and corporate types getting corporate welfare and being treated like sacred cows, while the people of Pennsylvania are being treated like chopped liver?" she asked.

The majority of testimony presented by those opposed to the proposal cited the long-standing reason for giving the PMMB such authority — to ensure adequate supplies of fresh, inexpensive drinking milk for all Pennsylvanians by ensuring a reasonable profit for retailers, and, ipso facto, an opportunity for adequate profit by the processors and farmers.

The proposal to eliminate the PMMB minimum-price setting authority (something attempted in recent years by surrounding states, though courts struck down some of those attempts because they weren't constructed quite the same) was made June 11 (Dairy Month) by Sheehan, a 40-year-old former college professor of social science and first-term representative up for re-election in November.

The hearing continued from 11 a.m. through 6 p.m. with a half-hour break for a late lunch. Attendance at the hearing was a standing-room only in the 72-seat board room of the Lower Merion Township Building. In addition to those seated, there were about 20 people standing around the walls at any one time, with people leaving and others arriving regularly.

As far as a piece of legislation, this bill is still far from being law.

It must be brought out of the State Government Committee, chaired by Rep. Paul Clymer, R-Perkasie, and sent to the floor of the House. It could be referred to another committee, and on and on, until it has been before the House for a third and final consideration.

If approved by the House, it would then go to the state Senate, where it can be assumed additional hearings would be held and a similar process of review would have to be undergone.

If the House version would pass through the Senate without amendments it would go to the governor's office for his signature and approval.

Both the House and Senate reconvene in September. They can be expected to break again for elections in November, and they may or may not continue again before the regular holiday break.

One of the few agricultural supporters of the bill was the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau.

Mel Eckhaus, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau director of state legislative programs, testified that it was the member-delegate approved policy (made last November at the PFB annual meeting) to oppose retail price-setting of milk.

It was explained through questioning by committee member Rep. Tom Barley, R-Lancaster, also a member of PFB, how policy is developed in the organization — that all policy ideas are developed first at the county level through suggestions by individuals, then further considered, if supported locally, at the state level.

Though not explained during the hearing, a policy committee takes all the policies developed locally across the state and develops policy statements, in other words, they condense several similar policy concepts into one policy for consideration. When a policy statement is unique it doesn't require condensing.

Hog Is Named E-town Supreme

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — The most perfect animal at the Elizabethtown Fair turned out to be a hog. The Hamp cross named Jasmine was a homebred hog shown by Gerald Boyd, 17, of Ephrata.

Gerald and his sister Sarah raise about 20 hogs to show at area fairs and are consistent winners. However, this was the first time one of their hogs captured the title Supreme Champion Animal.

The showdown among the supreme champions of dairy, swine, sheep, goat, and beef happened Thursday evening at the fairgrounds. Judges of each breed debated about 30 minutes before proclaiming that the hog was the finest speciman of its species.

After the naming of the supreme champion livestock, Harry Bachman, Auctioneers conducted a livestock sale. Sold were 47 market market lambs, eight goats, seven beef, and 105 hogs. Bidding was brisk with Gerald's supreme hog selling for $625 to Fulton Bank.

Gerald's sister Sarah sold her reserve champion hog for $400 to Hoss's Steak and Sea House, which donated it to the Elizabethtown Community Action Food Bank.

Lancaster Tobacco Crop Big And Heavy This Year

With all the rain, Lancaster County's tobacco crop grew fast and heavy this year. Roger Rohrer, who is Corestates Bank's vice president of agri-finance, takes vacation days to harvest tobacco on his home farm. Rohrer said many times in a wet, cool year the tobacco is not as good. But this year, especially, on well-drained soils, tobacco farmers have a nice crop.

On not-so-well drained soils or where the heavy rains took the nutrients below the root system the crop is short and has a yellow color. And some blue mold has been reported. But Rohrer estimates that 70 to 80 percent of the crop is the right size and of good color.

Now farmers need days with heat and low humidity to cure the tobacco in the barns. The fields have yielded the promise of a good crop, but with the extra moisture in the leaves this year, the curing process will have an even greater effect on the final quality of the crop.

Rohrer started harvesting on Monday, Aug. 5 and has 6,000 of his expected 11,500 lathes in the barns. In the photo, Rohrer's tobacco harvesting crew takes a small break Wednesday afternoon to pose with a sample of the big tobacco farmers are harvesting this year. National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
AUGUST 21, 1996

Lack of export orders and possible problems negative for wheat bids today. Estimated production figures by tour groups postive for corn and soybean bids. Wheat 2 to 6 cents lower. Corn 4 to 12 cents higher. Sorghum mostly steady, but gulf barge bids 17 to 19 cents lower. Soybeans 4 to 6 cents higher. Nothing big in wheat exports this week, just a few small orders. Foreigners are looking for all kinds of toxins karnal bunt, diseases, or anything in U.S. wheat to discount prices. At current corn prices, if that kind of wheat is not too bad it will make good livestock feed. Everybody and their city cousins are making crop tours and estimating production of corn and soybeans. Late plantings this year and predictions are more difficult than usual. Everyone agrees early frost will get some corn in some areas. South Korea corn purchase announced Friday and delivery into new crop. Orders look dry the next three days. Cattle on Feed Report coming out Friday, is not expected to be a boomer for increased consumption. Right now, corn producers are more interested in new crop bids and they do not always go along with current tight supply trends. Soybeans are making good stock growth, but need sunshine and hot weather to put on and fill out the fruits. Low pod counts reported out of Indiana and Ohio. Early or late frost is more of a factor in bean production than in corn. Beans were planted later this year because of wet weather and relatively high prices encouraged more late wheat/beans. Talk of good export demand persist, but year to date inspection figures are 8.3 million bushel below a year ago. Delmarva Broiler

AUGUST 21, 1996

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds varied, but was generally light to fair at best. Seller offerings ranged adequate to ample, and extra product was slow to clear. Live supplies were at least moderate; weights were mixed in a full range, and were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 58 to 72 cents Trade sentiment was steady to weak. In the parts complex, leg quarters were in closest balance. Boneless skinless breasts were adequate to ample. Bone-in breasts were fully adequate. Wings were fully adequate to ample and slow in clearing.

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

AUGUST 16, 1996

Prices were unchanged to higher with whole egg and yolks in the strongest position. The market tone was fully steady to firm. Demand was moderate and continued to center around immediate needs. Floor stocks remained no more than adequate. Shell egg prices increased throughout the week, and offerings were tight to adequate. Edible liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed in the Eastern region under federal inspection for the week ending August 10, 1996 were 1% less than last week, and 4% more than the same week last year.

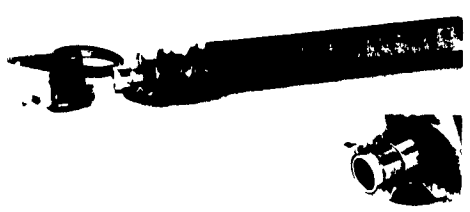
STALK ROLL PARTS PACKAGE ...

FOR CASE IH 800/900/1000 SERIES CORN HEADS

Longer service life is now yours because of an improved lower bearing. A single, sealed, heavy duty water pump type bearing now replaces the two needle bearings and seal. Greasing is no longer required!

NEW STYLE

OLD STYLE



Case IH bearings have a full 3/4" shaft with flat and pilot holes for positive mounting and removal.

Don't be fooled by light duty look-alikes that will appear in the aftermarket!

BENEFITS

- Longer bearing life
- Reduced maintenance time
- No greasing required

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

AUG. 26-SEPT. 1, 1996

WOMEN'S EQUALITY DAY, AUG. 26.

CHANGING TIMES

In the last three decades, women have waited longer to marry and have become increasingly educated and employed By 1990 a woman's median age at first marriage was about 24, as compared to age 20 in 1960 The number of women enrolled in college between 1960 and 1970 increased by a whopping 168 percent over the previous decade (The percentage increase for men was at least 23 percent lower than for women) By 1990 more than 56 million women were in the civilian workplace (over 45 percent of the workforce), and 20 percent of doctors and lawyers were women, up from only seven percent in 1970 As for comparable pay coming soon?

Do you think it would be possible for women to make a worse mess of politics than the men have? – Mrs. Boorman Wells suffragist

TIP OF THE WEEK

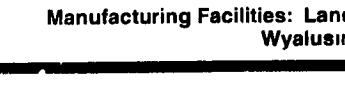
Statistically, women prove to be as good a credit risk, or better, than men.

QUICK CUKES AND FETA

- 1 head Bibb lettuce
- 2 large cucumbers, peeled and sliced
- 2 medium Vidalia onions, sliced
- 1/4 pound feta cheese
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon fresh oregano
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/8 teaspoon ground pepper

Wash and dry lettuce, break into pieces on large salad plate Place sliced cucumbers and onions on the lettuce In a blender add cheese, olive oil, oregano, and lemon juice, and blend until smooth Just before serving, pour dressing over cukes and onions and sprinkle with pepper

Makes 4 to 6 servings.



The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

If the full Moon rises clear, expect fair weather. If the full Moon rises pale, expect rain.

If there be a general mist before sunrise near the full of the Moon, the weather will be fine for some days.

If the flowers are unusually fragrant, expect rain.

"We're proud to be part of a financially sound cooperative. Atlantic does its best to get the greatest return from the marketplace."

—Jeff Moore
Centreville, MD

ADC Is the Place To Be

Financial stability and the greatest return from the marketplace – the outstanding benefits that Jeff Moore refers to – are among the strengths of the premier dairy cooperative in the region.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has a 78-year history of excellent service to its members. Financially strong, ADC guarantees a market for all member milk and excels in maximizing returns. ADC is a leader in providing equity payments, quality bonuses and over-order premiums to members.

Nearly 4,000 dairy farmers agree that "ADC is the Place to Be."

OPINION

Already Critical

Dairy farmers are going out of business in alarming numbers. Prices paid to farmers for milk have not kept pace with costs of production. This year, especially, high feed prices have eroded any little increase that did exist.

In a recent news release The New York State Grange saluted National Ag Secrectary Glickman for signing the enabling legislation of the New England Dairy Compact. This Compact is designed to develop a means for stabilizing prices to provide a reasonable profit margin for the farmer. The commission that oversees the Compact includes consumer representatives so both the consumer and the farmer sides of the pricing situation are heard. Stablization on a regional basis is necessary now that the federal government is less involved.

But as usual, when someone takes the side of the farmer, the public is fed a line of bull. A New York Times editorial claims that this legislation favors the New England Dairy Farmer's "Cartel" over the poor. This appears to be reminiscent of Dan Rather and the "milk additives" where the misinformed instructed the uninformed.

Concentrating the control of any product into an increasingly small number of individuals has never been sucessful in retaining fair prices. This does not seem to be a direction to take with something as critical as our supply of food. American consumers still enjoy one of the lowest percentages of food cost of any nation in the world. This has been possible by maintaining a large number of individuals in the business of farming.

It is a much better strategy to provide reasonable prices and maintain an adequate supply rather than to continue with a lower price, force producers out of business and wait until the situation becomes critical before something is done. With many markets undersupplied right now, we may have already reached the critical point.

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Produce Milk

Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent, reminds us when milk prices increase, butterfat and/or protein differentials increase. When base building time is here (Federal Order 4 shippers), it is time to produce more milk and milk with normal component levels.

Aim for efficient levels of high milk production per cow rather than going to the expense of increasing herd size. Aim for normal levels of milk components instead of the highest fat test or highest protein test.

When milk is $15 per hundredweight ($0.15 per pound) and butterfat differential is $0.14 per pound, you cannot afford to give up more than a one percent drop in milk production in an effort to raise fat tests 0.1 percent. That is not much of a drop. For a 60 pound per day producer, that means a drop of only 0.6 pound of milk per day. So be sure you are striving for the right goals.

To Produce Normal Fat Milk

Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent, states dairy farmers should strive for normal fat tests.

Think of fat tests as the rumen's thermometer. When tests are low, the rumen is not normal.

Cows may be acidotic, appetites may be depressed, and cows may be more prone to get ketosis, laminitis, etc. Feeds are digested less efficiently with more nutrients ending up in the gutter rather than in milk.

To return fat tests to normal, you need to:

- Feed ample amounts of good quality forage that supply adequate amounts of effective fiber. The fiber should be digestible and long enough to stimulate a lot of cud chewing activity.
- Feed a balanced ration.
- Avoid slugging the rumen with more than eight pounds of grain at any one time. Feed TMR mixes. If that is not possible, feed forages ahead of grains and feed grains at more frequent intervals.
- If necessary, feed additives such as buffers, yeast cultures, and rumen microbials. Be sure to compare costs to returns for these additives.

To Control Feed Prices

The recent rise in feed prices has created challenging times for livestock and poultry farmers.

The new crop forecasts indicate we will continue to see high feed prices for a long time.

We have entered a new level of grain usage. As the world standard of living increases as a result of free world trade, the demand for food will increase.

One way farmers can control feed costs is through hedging. On Tuesday, Aug. 27 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., Lou Moore and Dr. Jim Dunn, Penn State agricultural economists, will discuss how you may use the futures market to control feed costs.

Corn and soybean meal make up the largest portion of feed. Even if you do not mix your own feed, you still can hedge your feed costs by buying corn and soybean futures that offset the amount they compose of your ration.

The meeting will be held in the lower level meeting room of the Farm and Home Center, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "When called to lead, do so with foresight, courage and character."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ON SAVING THE WORLD
August 25, 1996

Background Scripture:
Psalms 96
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 98:1-9

As a minister I'm afraid that all too often in my pastorates I urged people to come to our worship services out of loyalty to God and the Church. I probably gave some people the impression that the purpose of worship is to satisfy some requirement that God places upon us. If we are not regular in worship, we assume that God and the pastor are displeased, although maybe not in that order.

In other words, worship is all too often regarded as an obligation. We do it from time to time to keep God happy or to keep God from getting too angry or disappointed with us. It is easy to see why some people regard attending worship on the same level as visiting their dentist — they know it is good for them, but at best it is uncomfortable.

Read the 96th Psalm and you will see that the psalmist didn't regard praising God as an obligation, but as a blessed opportunity. It is not self-discipline that motivates him but the joy of celebrating the glory of God's kingship. "O sing to the Lord a new song . . . Sing to the Lord, bless his name; tell of his salvation from day to day" (96:1,2).

WHO NEEDS IT?

So, we worship God, not because he requires it of us, or because he is flattered by it. In fact, we do it because we need it. Worship does something for us. When the psalmist shouted, "Declare his glory among the nations, his marvelous works among all people!" he was being lifted up above his normal state of consciousness to an experience that transformed him.

By focussing upon the Lord, the worshipper is transformed. Maybe that's why many of us still don't enjoy worship and praising God is so difficult for us. We are so self-centered that we think of God only in terms of using him for our own ends. In worship, just for one brief hour we have the opportunity to forget ourselves and become immersed in Him whose glory has the power to make us better, truer, more loving people. President Calvin Coolidge once said, "It is only when men begin to worship that they begin to grow." Worship opens us up to spiritual growth.

It is obvious that what the psalmist is experiencing, worship, is something rather different than simply attending worship. It is a time when our eyes can be lifted up beyond the four walls of the church sanctuary, a moment when we can grow beyond our own narrow range of concerns, and catch a vision of what life was created to be.

MORE THAN CHURCH GOING

The psalmist is caught up in a vision of the whole of creation praising God and celebrating his glory. He calls, not just to his own people, but everyone everywhere: "Ascribe to the Lord, O families of the peoples, ascribe to the Lord glory and strength . . . Say among the nations, 'The Lord reigns!'" (vs. 7,10a). The psalmist sees all nature joining in this celebration: "Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice; let the sea roar, and all that fills it; let the field exult, and everything in it! Then shall all the trees of the wood sing for joy before the Lord. . ." (vs. 11,12).

Going to church will not transform the world, but worship will. Many years ago Archbishop William Temple said this in a broadcast in the USA: "I am disposed to begin by making what many people will feel to be a quite outrageous statement. This world can be saved from political chaos and collapse by one thing only, and that is worship. For to worship is to quicken the conscience by the holiness of God, to feed the mind with the truth of God, to purge the imagination with the beauty of God, to open up the heart to the love of God, to devote the will to the purpose of God."

"It's great to be part of the team at ADC that produces a quality product and stands by its farmers."
—Levi & LuAnn Ransom
Nicholson, PA

ADC Is the Place To Be

Quality milk and support of its members – the outstanding benefits that Levi and LuAnn Ransom refer to – are among the strengths of the premier dairy cooperative in the region

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has a 78-year history of excellent service to its members Financially strong, ADC guarantees a market for all member milk and excels in maximizing returns. ADC is a leader in providing equity payments, quality bonuses and over-order premiums to members.

Nearly 4,000 dairy farmers agree that "ADC is the Place to Be"

P.L. Rohrer Holds Corn Trials

Mark Jacques, manager of product development with AgriPro Seeds Inc., talks about some of the 50 corn varieties planted in this plot in cooperation with P.L. Rohrer & Bros. Inc. and local farmers. P.L. Rohrer held the field trial event this week for its customers to allow them to see the different varieties and to meet with company representatives who actually develop varieties. The group also toured another field where soybeans and high oil corn varieties were planted. The high oil varieties use a row of pollinating plants to provide the genetics for several rows of male-sterile production plants. The high-oil characteristic doesn't express itself in self-pollinated plants. The event was part of an ongoing program by P.L. Rohrer for seed development and local trials based on farmer/customer needs and local conditions.

Effort To Eliminate PMMB

The committee also determines whether a proposed policy statement is repetitive or redundant.

Through pointed questioning, Barley also brought out that voting members of PFB have to actually be engaged in production agriculture.

The PFB policy to support H.B. 2628 is based on the fact that dairy farmers alone are already spending about 2 cents per gallon of milk to advertise milk, and should have the added benefit of retail stores offering sales and other promotional tools, to increase the consumption of fluid milk.

Since more money is made by the farmer for milk sold for fluid consumption, the more sold the better off the farmer. Currently less than half the milk sold is used for fluid purposes. The majority of milk made, though of high enough quality for fluid use, goes into the production of other dairy products or into the manufacture of other foods and brings a lower price.

The farmer gets paid after he is told how his milk was used.

While testifying against the retail price-setting, the PFB continues to support the PMMB's minimum price setting at the wholesale and producer level. The PMMB also has the authority to provide an over-order premium on fluid milk that has been in effect since 1988.

Eckhaus said that the PFB has been a longtime supporter of the PMMB and continues to be a supporter, and that the issue of retail price setting is likely to crop up again within the organization.

"Certainly, arguments can be made on both sides of the issue," he said. "Our voting delegates will no doubt discuss this policy again in November. No one can predict the future. Our policy today supports the repeal of minimum retail milk prices, and I would urge the committee to report the bill to the floor of the House."

The Pennsylvania State Grange testified against the proposal, citing the fact that the reason the PMMB was created in 1937 and given the authority to set minimum prices, in addition to protecting producers from unfair and unscrupulous business practices by milk dealers, and providing public watchdog services, was to ensure that Pennsylvanians have a dependable and affordable supply of fresh drinking milk.

Dennis Seltzer, a Schuylkill Haven dairy farmer, testifies against H.B. 2628 before the House State Government Committee.

The Grange position is that the system is working to the benefit of consumers and the state's economy. It questions the simplistic catagorization of the retail policy as described by Sheehan, and her and others apparent lack of understanding of the sustained and long-term benefits to consumers by maintaining a healthy dairy industry.

The PMMB currently has the authority to set the minimum and/or maximum wholesale and retail prices of milk "in the respective milk marketing areas as will be most benefitical to the public interest, best protect the milk industry of the Commonwealth and insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk to inhabitants of the Commonwealth, having special regard to the health and welfare of children residing therein."

The PMMB is to consider all conditions affecting the price of milk, from the cost of production,

State Rep Heads Effort To Eliminate PMMB Pricing Authority

the amount of milk necessary to supply consumer demand and a reasonable reserve supply.

It also sets that the board is to make sure that a reasonable profit above the cost of production, or procurement, for producers, processors, and retailers is between 2½ percent and 3½ percent.

The whole process has the effect of making sure that there are plentiful supplies of fluid milk on hand, which keeps the price low for the consumer and relatively low for the producer.

If milk production were completely free-market, then dairy production would be even harder pressed to compete for land space with other land-grabbing enterprises, many of which are short term, but high in profit, and long term in upkeep expense for local communities.

Robert Yonkers, assistant professor of agricultural economics at Penn State University, provided testimony that basically said there is not enough reliable research or data to support either side.

He said he was speaking neither for nor against the proposal, but was merely on hand to provide testimony on what is known about the milk market and how it actually responds to protectionist measures with regards to price-setting.

After giving a history of how milk pricing began in the 1920s and 1930s and how the Great Depression drove more government intervention into the milk industry, because of the chaos and because of the real starvation and suffering that was going on and because it wasn't necessary.

After the economic stimulus of World War II, the once widespread practice of setting minimum prices was dropped.

The issue at hand, however, was whether or not the PMMB authority and the minimum retail prices set hurts or helps Pennsylvania.

In whole, those for the proposal claimed consumers were being hurt by having to spend an extra couple cents for their milk compared to consumers in an unregulated adjacent state, while those against argued that were it not for the protection, the milk supplies would diminish and the consumer price would increase.

It was not made clear whether or not retail prices in surrounding states were below cost (milk being sold at a loss as an enticement to consumers to shop) or whether the prices reflected consumer-responsible business practices.

Testifying for the measure was long-time PMMB antagonist Franklin County attorney Tom Finucane, a self-appointed milk consumer advocate, who has filed numerous, but failed lawsuits, against the PMMB for years, tying up the agencies attorneys.

Finuncane claimed that consumers were being ripped off and that the program merely provided welfare for a number of independent milk processors within the state.

While he has never been specific in his long-term commitment to attact the authority of the PMMB, he has said it was related to the estate wishes of a long-deceased dairy-farmer client.

David DeSantis, PMMB chief of enforcement and accounting, testified against HB 2628. He received many questions from Sheehan, who phrased questions in a slanted manner, such as, "Mr. DeSantis, how much money has this program cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania?"

He replied that he wasn't sure "how much it saved the taxpayers over the years."

Also offered into testimony from PMMB member Leon Wilkinson was a letter from Marlys Koontz, with the Montana state Burea of Milk Control.

In the letter, Koontz conveyed to Wilkinson how the state of Montana discovered that when similar price controls were removed that while milk prices dropped slightly in the cities, it increased or stayed the same in the outlying areas.

Koontz said that the smaller processors were battled out of business by a large milk dealer and then the large milk dealer couldn't sustain reduced prices because of shipping costs. Furthermore, dairy producers there are being threatened even more because of cheaper milk being shipped in from other areas.

A 1994 letter from the California Bureau of Milk Stabilization to Richard Dario, then executive director of the Pennsylvania House Legislative Budget and Finance Committee, stated that deregulation of its milk pricing resulted in lower retail milk prices for less than a year, while they went up and were unstable thereafter.

Tracy Jackson, director of the PMMB Bureau of Consumer Affairs, also testified that prices were kept lower in Pennsylvania than in surrounding states and that other states kept their dairy prices somewhat in line with Pennsylvania.

Several farmers selling milk to independent dealers testified against the measure, citing the fact that their milk is primarily sold for fluild milk purposes and that the loss of those dealers would mean a loss of local milk being available locally, because their farms would collapse.

Testifying for Sheehans proposal was Thomas McGlinchy, executive director of facilities management and services for the School District of Philadelphia.

According to McGlinchy, his school district puts out bids for milk suppliers and all bids come in at the minimum wholesale price set by the PMMB. He testified that the school district spent more than $3.5 million for milk last year.

However, Earl Fink, executive vice president of the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers (a trade association with 35 member companies that process and distribute the majority of milk in the state), seemed to have countered that by providing a fact sheet on the profit margin schools make on selling the milk to students.

According to his stats, schools make more than 100 percent profit based on cost on the sale milk to students.

He also mentioned that in addition, the school get state and federal reimbursements on meals served containing milk.

Fink stated that Pennsylvania is strong in its number of milk processing plants. There are 55 plants that process or manufacture milk and 33 of those process beverage drinking milk. That's more than similar sized states, with New Jersey having seven plants, Maryland six, and Michigan eight.

Testimony was presented that argued that prices were higher in Pennsylvania, while others argued it was lower in Pennsylvania.

What Fink provided that was interesting was a comparison of the consumer cost per fluid ounce of beverage.

He provided a real-store price list of beverages ranging from colas, teas, orange and apple juice, lemonade and bottled water.

Of those beverage items listed, the most inexpensive was a gallon of 2-percent milk that sold for $2.46 or 1.9 cents per fluid ounce, while six (11.2 ounces) bottles of water sold for a total of $3.98 or 5.9 cents per fluid ounce.

Extension Accepts Nominations

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — Penn State Cooperative Extension of Lackawanna County is accepting nominations for the Thomas B. Jurchak Extension Award.

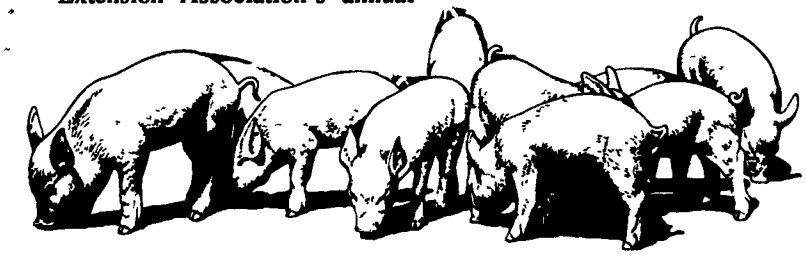
The annual award recognizes individuals, organizations, and businesses who have made a significant contribution to the Lackawanna County Cooperative Extension program.

Nominations should be sent by Sept. 30, 1996 to Penn State Cooperative Extension, 200 Adams Ave., Scranton, PA 18503.

The recognition includes a monetary gift presented at the Lackawanna County Cooperative Extension Association's annual meeting scheduled for Nov. 15 at the Lakeview Lounge in Jermyn.

The award was established in honor of Thomas B. Jurchak, retired county extension director and agricultural agent for Lackawanna County. Jurchak made outstanding contributions to Lackawanna County's agriculture, particularly green wrap tomatoes and milk marketing. During his 38-year career, Jurchak worked closely with producers to incorporate findings from research into practice.

For additional information about the award, contact Penn State Cooperative Extension at (717) 963-6842.



'Harry' Is Kutztown Steer Champion

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — The beef show at the 125th annual Kutztown Fair was held on Thursday, August 15.

There were 24 beef exhibitors from Berks and Lehigh counties. Twenty-three steers and 10 heifers were exhibited.

The grand champion steer was owned by Matt Samsel of Oley, a Simmental named "Harry." The steer weighed 1,234 pounds. Reserve champion steer was owned by Crystal Wetzel of Kempton. The steer was an 1,192-pound Simmental.

The 4-H'ers participated in a fit-out contest where they were given a half hour to fit their animal in the ring. Champion fitter went to Mark Manwiller of Leesport and reserve fitter went to Shanon Wetzel, Kempton.

The showmanship portion of the competition was won by 18-year-old Shanon Wetzel of Kempton. Reserve champion showman went to 13-year-old Ben Weist.

Benjamin Weist, Leesport, supreme champion breeding stock of the beef show. Judge Bob Mikesell of Port Royal and Amanda Gauker of Fleetwood congratulate Ben.

Cumberland County Holds 4-H Dairy Roundup

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co.
Correspondent

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.) — Heath and Michelle Ocker kept the top Ayrshire awards all in the family during the Cumberland County 4-H Dairy Roundup at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds.

In the Holstein events, Betsy Walton of Carlisle had the grand champion with Fountain Farm Lead Molly, a 5-year-old. Le-Ida Astro Jet Lace-Twin, an aged cow owned by Bradley Varner of Newville was the reserve grand champion.

The Jersey show was Rebecca Cornman's all the way. The Carlisle girl's aged cow Red Hills Bradford Gwen was the grand champion. Her 4-year-old Justa-Beauty GM Jeannette, was the reserve grand champion.

Heath and Michelle Ocker were the big Ayrshire winners in the junior competition, too. Heath had the junior champion with Ockerdale Reliable Jessica and Michelle had the reserve champion with her fall yearling Ockerdale Reliable Julie Joy.

The junior Jersey champion was a fall yearling, Pleasant Valley Design Sassy, owned by Kelly Rotz of Newville, while Rebecca Cornman's fall yearling, Justa-Beauty Brass Tiffany, was the reserve champion.

Eastmont Farm Premier Breeder, Exhibitor

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Tioga Co. Correspondent

WHITNEYVILLE (Tioga Co.) — In a close race, Eastmont Farm of Covington outscored all other Jersey exhibitors to win the title of premier breeder and premier exhibitor at the 30th annual Tioga County Open Dairy Show held here recently.

The show, judged by Paul Ritter of Muncy, drew more than 100 entries, including Ayrshires, Brown Swiss, Guernseys, Jerseys, and Milking Shorthorn.

Among the Ayrshires, Bradley Wales' Blue-Devils Daisy, a 4-year-old, was the grand champion. The reserve grand champion was Ter-Lin Sailor Renee, a junior 2-year-old owned by Derek Long. The junior champion Ayrshire was Redshale-Ridge Heli-Go-Go, owned by Trisha McIlwain. The reserve junior champion was a spring calf, Blue-Devils Kent Bomb, owned by Bradley Wales.

In the Brown Swiss arena, Rock-B Ridge Sugar Candy, a dry cow owned by Rebecca Bechtel, was named the grand champion. In the reserve grand champion spot was Mark Inman's Elm Brook Blend Jess Lyn, a junior 3-year-old. The junior champion was Lindsay Porter's Rockyslope spring yearling, Rockyslope RL Aytola Cori. In the reserve junior champion position was Jason Butler's Bo Ka Dotson Myrah, a summer yearling.

All the Guernsey champions were exhibited by David Kriner. Junior 2-year-old Castles Dairys Patsy won grand champion honors while 5-year-old Castles King Flash Gloria was the reserve grand champion. Wheatland Jasper Ginger, a winter yearling, took junior champion honors, while spring yearling Wheatland Valiant Mamie was reserve junior champion.

Animals from Normandell Farm captured each of the champion positions in the Jersey show. Senior 2-year-olds were named the grand and reserve grand champions. In the top spot was Paul Blackwell's Normandell Lester Tasha. Following her was Cathleen Norman's Normandell Jedd Payge. The junior champion animal, fall yearling Normandell Glenwood Jasmine-ET, was owned by Mark Norman. Emily Norman owned the reserve junior champion, Normandell Mister T Monika, a spring calf.

Two Milking Shorthorn completed the show. Named grand champion was Kuszmar Nancy Soo, a dry cow owned by Bradley Wales. The reserve grand champion and also the junior champion was Blue-Devils Amy Lynn, a fall calf also owned by Bradley Wales.

Lancaster Accepts Century Farm Applications

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster County Extension has announced that applications for Lancaster County Century Farm nominations are being accepted by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

"To qualify as a Century Farm, the farm must have been owned by the same family for 100 consecutive years," said John Schwartz, extension director. "A family member must currently live on the farm, and the farm must consist of at least 10 acres of the original holding, or gross more than $1,000 annually from the sale of farm products."

Lancaster County has 126 registered Century Farms.

Century Farm information, applications, and assistance in filling out the application may be obtained from the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension, 1383 Aracadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601, (717) 394-6851.

Schwartz said that Century Farm nominees whose applications are processed prior to Oct. 1 will be honored at the Lancaster County Farm-City Ag-Chamber Banquet on Nov. 26.

Dear Friends of the Clinic for Special Children.

We are again asking for your support and donations of saleable items to sell at the 6th Annual Benefit Auction on Saturday, Sept 21, 1996, at the Leola Produce Auction site on Brethren Church Rd., Leola, PA.

All proceeds will go to the Clinic for Special Children, a non-profit organization, with Dr Holmes Morton as the attending physician. Dr. Morton has taken a special interest in several hereditary diseases. By testing all newborn babies of high-risk percent-age, he has been able to prevent irreversible brain damage of many of these young children. The same tests that are done at the clinic for $35.00 would cost $350.00 to $400.00 at major medical centers, making these tests too expensive for many parents. The costs of owning and operating this laboratory equipment are huge, but with the funds from this annual auction the clinic has been able to offer this service to their clients at a price that is affordable by the average parent.

You may contact any of the following for more information or, if you wish, deliver your donation to any of them. Thank you for your support.*

Jerseys Fill Show Ring At Kutztown

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — The Jersey breed had a strong showing at the 125th Annual Kutztown Fair.

There were 105 Jerseys exhibited, one Red & Whhite, and one American Lineback, along with eight Guernseys, 13 Brown Swiss, four Milking Shorthorns, and 13 Ayrshires.

Judge Dean Daubert of McElhattan, a well-know Brown Swiss breeder, officiated at the colored breed show. Additionally, he selected the supreme champion.

Supreme champion honors went to Fantasyland Lincoln Image, a junior 3-year-old that won the Holstein show on Monday evening. She was exhibited by Elliot Heffner of Robesonia.

Topping the Jersey Show was Megan Phillips of Bernville, with Bryant Hill Bold Hickory, a 5-year-old. Reserve champion honors went to JMJ Imperial Mystic owned by Jennifer Neiman, Fleetwood. Mystic is a junior 2-year-old.

Sweeping the Ayrshire breed was Jill L. Vail of Myerstown. Her string of Ayrshires, Brown Swiss, and American Linebacks kept Angela Werley, Berks County dairy princess, busy awarding ribbons and banners. Jill had grand champion with each of the three breeds that she competed.

The Guernsey Show grand champion went to an outstanding intermediate Calf owned by Nathan Phillips of Mertztown. Judge Daubert commented numerous times on the quality, strength, and frame of this heifer. Sweeping the rest of the Guernsey show was Amy Hollenbach of Bernville.

York 4-H Swine Exhibitors Hold Show, Sale

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — A 259-pound Yorkshire crossbred hog got the judge's nod for grand champion at the annual York 4-H roundup on August 12.

Before the day's events had ended, the winning pig earned its owner, Adam Sellers, nearly $500 toward his livestock enterprises.

Seller's pig opened the roundup sale which followed the show, selling after a lively round of bidding for $1.90 per pound to longtime regional livestock youth supporter Hatfield Packing Company, represented by buyer Ezra Good.

Seventeen-year-old Sellers of Thomasville is a veteran of many years of youth livestock activities. The champion was one of several project pigs raised for the show season and was purchased from Berks County hog breeder Oscar Manbeck.

Reserve champion honors also went to a long-time exhibitor, 17-year-old Bobbi Myers, Thomasville. Bobbi took the runner-up honors with a 243-pound blue butt hog from the breeding stock of Henry Holloway, one of seven project pigs she has raised for the show season.

Second in the sale lineup, the hog generated a round of competitive bidding, with a trio of buyers holding out for a price of $5 per pound. The winning bidders were Winter Garden Quality Foods, Honey Locust Farms, and Byron Waggoner Contractors.

Red Lion 4-H'ers Lane Innerst claimed the champion pair honors with her set of Berkshire-Hampshire crossbreds. The pigs weighed 228 and 235 pounds and sold to MB Graphics, Red Lion, on a $2 per pound bid.

Reserve pair was exhibited by Alisha Eberly, Dallastown. Hatfield was the buyer of the 235-pound-each pigs on a 95-cent bid.

Champion mediumweight was an entry by Cody Ault, Hanover, which sold for $1.05 per pound to Bankert's Durocs, Hanover.

Bobbi Myers also exhibited the champion lightweight pig, purchased for $2.05 per pound by Grim Contractors.

Reserve champion mediumweight pig was an entry of Adam Sellers and sold on a 90-cent bid to Hatfield Quality Meats.

Jocelyn Eberly, Dallastown, took the reserve champion ligh-

Wolfgang Shows Grand Champion At Elizabethtown

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Cortney Wolfgang led her mediumweight steer to the beef show championship at the Elizabethtown Fair Wednesday night. The black steer named Wild Cat performed nicely, not at all like his name would suggest. Cortney is the daughter of Patty and Brian Wolfgang, Middletown, and is in the 4th grade at Kunkel Elementary School.

The reserve champion was Jill Hoffine's lightweight steer. Jill was also the overall champion showman. She is the daughter of Robert and Linda Hoffines, Marietta.

Results are as follows:

Lightweight, 1. Jill Hoffines; 2. Nicole Eisenhower.

Mediumweight, 1. Courtney Wolfgang, 2. Jessica Stoltzfus; 3. John Hess.

Heavyweight, 1. Chris Hess; 2. Amy Hoffines.

Preview Steers, Lightweight, Jessica Stoltzfus; Heavyweight, Jay Zimmerman.

Cortney Wolfgang showed the grand champion. Rebecca Vogt, the 1996 Elizabethtown Fair Queen presented the award.

Showmanship, Senior, Amy Hoffines; Intermediate, 1. Jill Hoffines; 2. Jessica Stoltzfus; 3. John Hess. Junior, 1. Chris Hess; 2. Courtney Wolfgang; Novice, 1. Jay Zimmerman; 2. Nicole Eisenhower.

Jill Hoffines showed the reserve grand champion.

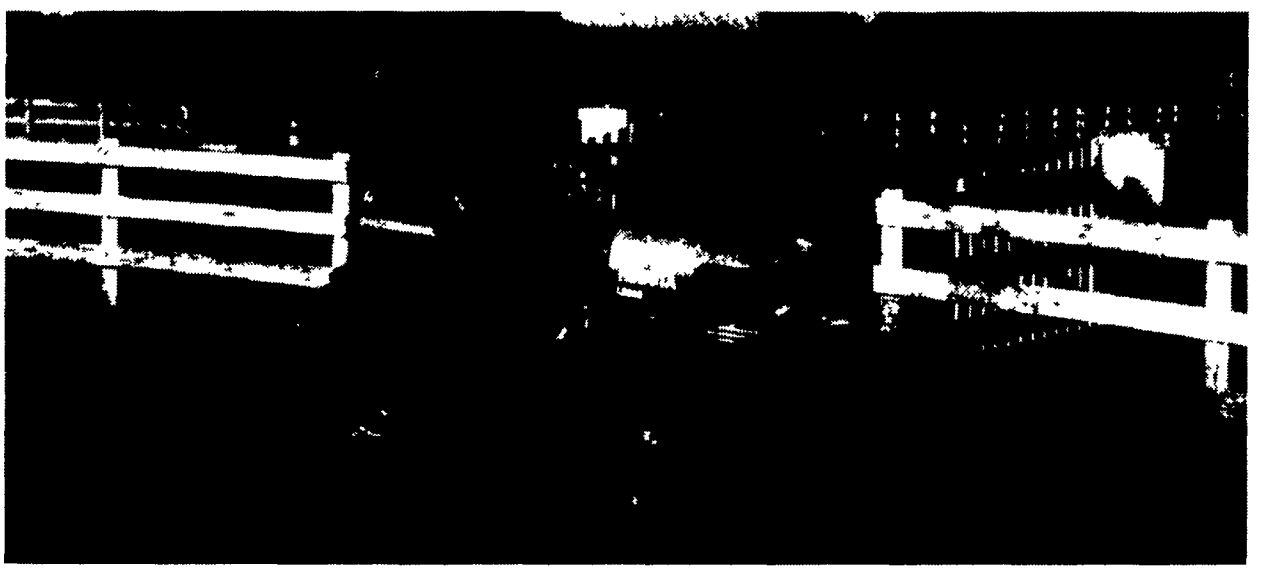
ANY JOB, ANY PLACE, ANY TIME



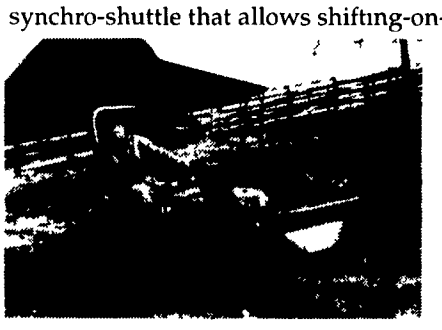
When not just any tractor will do, see the new Kubota B-Series or Grand L models at your local Kubota dealer.

Let them show you how a new B-Series, or the innovative Grand L-Series, can be the tractor for you in a variety of jobs, places or seasons.

Both the new B's and Grand L's feature Kubota's state-of-the-art E-TVCS diesel engines that deliver more power, with cleaner emissions. These tractors are designed for noticeably lower noise and vibration, while rear and mid-PTO's ensure that you will be able to use your Kubota B- or Grand L-Series tractor for all the jobs you do all year 'round.

The all new 13-18 PTO HP B-Series models give you bigger tractor features, in a compact tractor size. 2 or 4WD, power steering, optional Bi-Speed turn and hydrostatic transmission. The new sleek design enhances operator visibility and ease of operation, without sacrificing the rugged dependability you expect from a Kubota.

The Grand L-Series has a choice of transmissions: the new fully synchronized main transmission with synchro-shuttle that allows shifting-on-the-go through the 4 main gears, or the new GST (Glide Shift Transmission) which allows shifting-on-the-go through all 8 speeds. Both run smoothly and efficiently with the new larger diameter capacity clutch. A roomy operator deck is ISO-mounted to greatly reduce vibration. Tilt wheel, power steering and high back seat add to operator comfort.



Take a look today at Kubota's new B- or Grand L-Series for any job, any place at any time!

Dekalb Research Station Opens Doors To Producers At Field Day

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Close to 20 percent of the earnings from an ear of corn go into research and development for Dekalb, and the products from that research were on display Thursday morning at the third annual Dekalb Field Day here at the research station.

More than 200 producers and agri-industry representatives toured the test plots at the field day, encompassing 120 acres and home to about 7,000 different corn varieties under test.

According to Dr. Brent Godshalk, area director and corn breeder for the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic Research Station, the facility is one of 34 research stations in the country that test thousands of varieties.

Of the 120 acres, about half are in corn and the rest are in soybeans, said Godshalk.

"We evaluate strictly corn here, along with hybrid silage yield and quality," he said.

Monsanto and BASF representatives were on hand to discuss weed and insect control products to use with Dekalb hybrids.

Included at the field day were the various Dekalb biotech programs on corn and research on Roundup ready soybeans, Bt corn, Liberty Link corn, Poast herbicide-resistant corn, and leafhopper-resistant alfalfa.

Those who attended the field day saw a new Dekalb variety just released, DK 618, which provides "a full package of agronomic strength," said John Wysolmerski, Dekalb district sales manager. The variety provides excellent gray leaf spot resistance, is very top-end yielding, and exhibits all-around plant integrity. Wysolmerski said he has heard very positive feedback from growers about the variety.

Overall, Dekalb has received nine biotech patents this year, according to the sales manager.

Boyds Sweep E-town Fair Swine Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Swine showing can be a 50-50 partnership.

That kind of strategy worked well for Gerald Boyd and his sister Sarah Tuesday night when they swept the supreme market swine championship at the Elizabethtown Fair.

Gerald's 261-pound Hampshire/Duroc crossbred gilt, homebred and sired by Blaze out of Jim McCoy's herd in Ohio, captured supreme champion gilt out of the heavyweight division at Elizabethtown.

Sarah's littermate to the supreme champion, the light heavyweight champion at 242 pounds, also a Hampshire crossbred, appealed to Cheryl Fairbairn, Chester County extension agent and show judge.

Of the supreme, Fairbairn said the gilt "walks out extremely well and is extremely lean down the top." Regarding the reserve, the hog "is just an extremely long-bodied gilt, very sound," Fairbairn said.

Gerald, 17, son of Deb and Kerry Boyd, Ephrata, said that he and his sister Sarah "split everything. All the money gets split, 50-50." That partnership, ensured Gerald, is used to advantage. "Whatever we don't use on the pigs we put in savings," he said. The money saved by Sarah and Gerald is targeted for college.

The supreme is related to the reserve heavyweight at last year's Farm Show, according to Kerry Boyd.

Sarah, 15, Ephrata High School sophomore, said she intends to attend college to be a gym teacher. Gerald, Ephrata High School senior, said that he plans to attend college to study elementary or extension education.

The Boyds indicated they plan to show hogs at the Denver and Ephrata fairs. They also plan to show hogs at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition and the Farm Show. This is the first time they've ever swept a fair market swine championship.

There were a total of 35 exhibitors and 105 hogs. Following is a list of show placings.

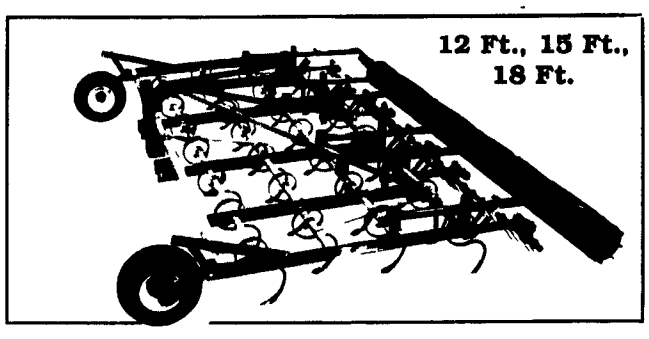
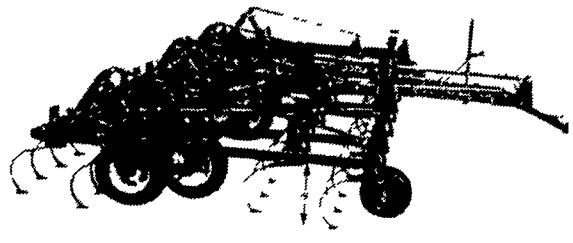
3 PT. BASKET HARROWS



Brillion has designed a 3 pt. S-tine field cultivator with a larger, aggressively angled 12" diameter rolling basket, a 4-bar frame that allows for either 4" or 6" tooth spacing and an adjustable coil tine leveler bar. Gauge wheels are optional.

HFC FIELD CULTIVATORS
16½ Ft. to 31½ Ft.



The "heart" of any field cultivator is the shank pivot point. A "bulked up" shank bracket made of cast ductile iron instead of the usual formed steel bracket, incorporates a hardened steel bushing AND a zerk grease fitting to lubricate the pivot point to reduce wear. The result is thousands of acres of extended life of the shanks.

High Wins Championship, Stoltzfus Wins Steer

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Now it's seven in a row. Casey High, Lititz, won the grand champion honors again at the Lancaster County 4-H steer show last Friday. But he needed help from some of his friends because he was home, too sick to get the honors himself. Hope Long led Casey's 1,280 pound heavyweight to the top of his class. But she was too busy in the championship class showing her own 1,066 pound lightweight steer to reserve grand champion honors. So John Hess took over for the championship run.

Other winners included Dean Livengood with the reserve champion lightweight; Jessica Schmidt with the mediumweight champion; Jessica Stoltzfus with the reserve midiumweight, and Chris Hess with the reserve heavyweight.

Highlight of the annual event is the awarding of the Intell steer to the top showman. This year's winner is Jessica Stoltzfus of Elizabethtown who topped 28 other showman. The local city newspaper has been giving a steer to the winning 4-H showman since 1959.

The reserve champion showman was Hope Long, New Providence. She is the 11 year-old daughter of Sam and Vickie Long and has been showing for three years. For her efforts she won $300 toward the purchase of her next steer from Lancaster Farming. In addition, as stated before, Long had the reserve champion market steer (repeat of last year); had the top Farm Show steer and showed the reserve grand champion heifer, an Angus junior yearling.

Sarah Nolt showed the champion heifer, an Angus summer yearling. John Housner, a York County Cattle breeder, was the judge.

Top placings are as follows:

MARKET STEERS

Lightweight (1,030lbs to 1,066lbs.) 1. Hope Long; 2. Joelynn Donough; 3. Travis Donough.

Lightweight (1,072lbs. to 1,092lbs.) 1. Dean Livengood; 2. Ryan Donough; 3. Jill Hoffines.

Mediumweight (1,100lbs. to 1,140lbs.) 1. Jessica Schmidt; 2. Loren Hershey; 3. Linford Hershey.

Mediumweight (1,212lbs. to 1,252lbs.) 1. Jessica Stoltzfus; 2. Eric Charles; 3. John Hess.

Heavyweight (1,266lbs. to 1,306lbs.) 1. Casey High; 2. Chris Hess; 3. Jay Zimmerman.

Heavyweight (1,334lbs. to 1,462lbs.) 1. Amy Hoffines; 2. Dale Livengood; 3. Kate Miller.

Class 4: 1. Hope Long; 2. Loren Hersehy; 3. Chris Hess.

Hope Long had the reserve grand champion steer, and won $300 for being the reserve champion showman.

Jessica Stoltzfus won the Intell steer for being the champion showman.

ITHACA, N.Y. — Northeast DHIA has just released a special program designed specifically to help those dairies not on test, to make better use of feeding recommendations.

FeedMiser does not require "going on test." Ther are no DHI member commitments, no DHI envelopes that arrive in the mail bulging with paper, and no structured testing schedule. Producers get a cow ID (her barn name or barn number) and a milkweight on a sheet of paper. It is simple and straightforward.

Get a FeedMiser test just once for an idea of how you might make better use of your feeding recommendations, or get a FeedMiser every couple of months.

Feed prices are not predicted to fall for sometime. Knowing how much milk you are getting for your feed dollar could increase the chances of increased profitability on the farm.

It makes no difference to Northeast DHIA how much or how little you use this program.

You can request morning, afternoon or evening milking — your choice. And if you would like an estimated total milkweight for the day, they can do that too.

For more information, or to schedule a FeedMiser test, contact your local Northeast DHIA Technician, Region Manager, or call Northeast DHIA center at: 1-800-DHI-Cows.

Boyd's Hog 'The Best Of What We Got'

shown by Corby Ziegler of Lititz went to Frank Groff of Groff's Meat of E-town for $375. Lebanon Valley Bank bid $225 for the reserve grand champion lamb shown by Benjamin Bow of Annville.

Amanda Grube, who has been showing goats since she was 3-years-old and is now 11, sold her grand champion goat for $300 to Lebanon Valley National Bank. Amanda and her parents, Tim and Roxanne Grube have 45 goats on their Mount Joy farm.

For the first year Jennifer Zimmerman, a sheep exhibitor, raised a goat. The Bohr-Sonnen cross named Al earned the reserve champion title and was sold to New Holland Sales Stable for $150.

Courtney Wolfgang's grand champion 1,200-pound Angus named Wildcat brought $1,700 when Hoss's Steak and Sea House took the top bid. The 1,110-pound reserve grand champion beef, shown by Jill Hoffines of Marietta sold to Manheim Auto Auction for $1,300.

(Turn to Page A36)

For $625, John Moose, left, of Fulton Bank purchased the grand champion hog that also was named supreme champion over all livestock at the Elizabethtown Fair. Gerald Boyd shows the "best of what we got," while Fair Queen Rebecca Vogt looks on.

Superior Broad Spectrum Disease Control With Dividend®

Starts Your Wheat In The Right Direction.

- Dividend seed treatment stops seed-borne scab, seed-borne septoria, seed rots, loose smut and Pythium*.
- Dividend treated wheat results in fast root development and quick seedling emergence, enhancing overall stand establishment.
- Dividend treated wheat has been shown in trials to increase yields over untreated wheat and wheat treated with other seed treatments.
- Dividend is safe to your crop–plant early or late, no-till or conventional tillage.
- Dividend offers the best worker safety profile available for seed treatments. It's less irritating to skin and eyes than other standard seed treatments–with less dust-off.

For more information on how to start your wheat in the right direction, contact Lary Treanor at 1 800 334 2422 (ext. 5918) or fax 910 855 6801

Lamb Sale Benefits Judging Team

JOYCE BURP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Like the pink-rabbit of battery-commercial fame, Matt Trostle just kept going and going.

The 17-year-old Red Lion 4-H shepherd claimed yet another champion title on August 12, topping a field of more than two dozen entries in the annual York County Sheep Roundup held at the newly-completed livestock facility addition at the York 4-H Center.

Trostle's 112-pound purebred Hampshire wether was first to go on the block during the roundup auction. Lebanon Valley National Bank held out as winning bidder, paying $2.10 per pound. Bank representatives promptly donated the champion back for a second trip through the sale arena, with the proceeds to benefit the York County 4-H Livestock Judging team's trip to participate in national competition.

On the second go-round, Service Feed and Supply, Cardiff, Md., repeated the original winning bid of $2.10 for the champion to benefit the judging team by $235.20.

Reserve champion Mike Burrell got a surprise when he led his 132-pound Suffolk wether into the ring. The 16-year-old's grandparents jumped into the bidding, sticking determinedly against competitors until the gavel went down at $5.45 per pound.

His grandparents surprised Mike Burrell by bidding last, at $5.45 per pound, for his reserve champion York 4-H roundup lamb. Representing B&N Enterprises are, from left, Louise and Ray Ness, Mike Burrell, and Evelyn Burrell.

"We did it just for the fun of it," said Evelyn Burrell, who with Louise and Ray Ness purchased the pink-ribboned runner-up as B&N Enterprises, Dover. Burrell's lamb was one of eight the Dover exhibitor raised for roundup and upcoming York Fair competition.

Champion lightweight exhibitor was Heather Bankert, Red Lion. Her 86-pound winner commanded a $1.40 per pound bid from Agway's Gettysburg Mill.

Adam Sellers took champion mediumweight honors with a 94-pound entry, purchased for $1.20 per pound by First Capital Wire and Cable Company, York.

Reserve champion lightweight ribbons went to Lindsay Jones, East Berlin. Hydro-Kirby Ag Service, Lancaster's winning bid for the 81-pound lamb was $1.60.

Maria Graybill claimed the reserve champion mediumweight with her 100-pound entry, which sold for $1.25 per pound to Thomas Heating and Cooling, Thomasville.

Judge John Conaway, Newville, handled the official placings and presented all exhibitors with blue ribbons for showmanship.

The 25 lambs sold averaged $1.71 with the champions and $1.47 without the champions.

Community Show Set

THURMONT, Md. — This year marks the 40th anniversary of the Thurmont and Emmitsburg Community Show, Friday-Sunday, Sept. 6-8 here at Catoctin High School.

More than 2,500 farm and garden, household, quilt, livestock, machinery, and commercial displays can be seen during the three-day event.

Each year, the Community Show honors an organization for its contributions to community life. This year, the show will be celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Edwin C. Creager Jr. Post 168 American Legion of Thurmont.

The show opens Friday, Sept. 6, at 6 p.m. to the public. At 7 :30 p.m., the program will open in the auditorium with the massing of flags by community civic organizations. Pat Troxell will sing several songs during the program.

The highlight of the program will be the announcement of the 1995-1996 Catoctin FFA ambassador.

Following the program at 9 p.m., an auction of all baked goods exhibited at the show will be held in the auditorium.

Saturday's activities include a beef, sheep, and swine fitting and showing contest from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and a pet show beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Thurmont Grange will serve a family style turkey and ham supper in the school cafeteria from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Milking equipment, gasoline engines, and machinery will be displayed throughout the event. "Homer" and "Albert," owned by Ernest Jackson, will be back again this year. The Brown Swiss are eight years old and weight 3,000 pounds each.

The Catoctin Area FFA Alumni Beef, Sheep and Swine Sale will be held in the ag center area at 7 p.m.

On Sunday, Sept. 8, the show opens at 10:30 a.m. with a dairy and goat show. At noon in the school cafeteria a chicken barbecue will be served by the Catoctin FFA Alumni.

"Dash for Mash" pig, duck, and goat races will be held at 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. by Merle Mills, a Montgomery County farmer. A K-9 dog show and demonstration will be held at 1 p.m., 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. by the Frederick County Sheriff's department.

The Catoctin Mountain Horseshoe Pitching contest will begin at 1 p.m. and the crosscut sawing contest will begin at 2 p.m.

Debra Lewis and Chandra Curry will have a horse rodeo event near the Ag Center at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Tyson and Sylvia Creamer will do sheep shearing at 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. and there will also be a spinning and weaving demonstration.

During the three-day event, the Catoctin FFA and Hunting Creek Fisheries will have an aquaculture display in the Ag Shop area.

The Tom's Creek Church Quilters will be quilting in the quilt and afghan display room.

Truck Routes Make a Difference

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

When it comes to quality and turn-around time, the five truck routes at PA DHIA make a difference. PA DHIA has a system in place that insures the quality of the milk samples with the refrigerated trucks which pick up samples at 79 truck stops throughout the membership area. Each of the five routes are run three times a week which consists of about 500 miles per route. This involves an early departure and late arrival on each day the routes are run.

Along with the quality of the refrigerated samples comes the timeliness of the report being able

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Corn, No.2y — 5.22 bu., 9.34 cwt.

Wheat, No. 2 — 4.49 bu., 7.50 cwt.

'Leed' Hampshire Outshines 241 Entries At Elizabethtown Fair

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — For the third year in a row, a Leed breeding sheep was named supreme champion sheep overall Wednesday at the Elizabethtown Fair.

However, two considerable differences were evident this year. Instead of the supreme being a Dorset owned by Ann Leed, it was a Hampshire owned by her sister Susan Leed.

Still, Ann had the honor of showing the homebred ewe named Jewel because her 11-year-old sister was attending Day Camp. The two sisters are the daughters of Bob and Nancy Leed of Lebanon, where they raise Deep Run Hampshires.

The Elizabethtown Sheep Show is one of the largest shows in the county, with 241 entries this year. Tim Hall, judge for the day-long event, said that Leed's Hamp could stand up against the largest sheep shows in the nation and excel.

The annual sheep show is unique compared to most shows in that both market lamb and selling lamb competitions are held in addition to breeding sheep categories. From these three categories, a supreme champion is selected.

The champions in market and selling lamb categories were shown by two Ziegler brothers, sons of Dean and Carol Ziegler of Lititz. Thirteen-year-old Brandon showed the champion market lamb and his brother Corby showed the selling lamb.

Corby's heavweight selling champion and Brandon's champion market lamb were purchased from Iowa. The brothers have eight crossbreds which they exercise at their Lititz rural home.

When selecting the supreme champion, the judge pointed out four sheep that he thought worthy of the title. These included Corby's sale lamb, Jessica Stoltzfus's Dorset, and Stephanie Kauffman's homebred Southdown in addition to Leed's champion.

Jessica, whose 20 Dorsets on the family's Elizabethtown farm are mostly homebred, said that her champion Dorset was purchased from Van Bair Farms. The ewe lamb has a frustrating idiosyncrasy, according to Jessica. "She hates her legs being touched. She won't let me set her up. But because she does pretty good at setting up herself, I just need to learn to deal with it," she said.

Stephanie's champion Southdown named Rosie is raised on her grandparents' Lorraine and George Lewis's farm in Landisville. Her mother Ellen Lewis was well known for showing Hampshires in previous years. Lewis said that he now advertises his sheep as Lewis' Hampshires and Stephanie Kauffman's Southdowns.

Seven-year-old Stephanie said that when she walks her sheep, all the neighborhood children in the development surrounding the meadows come to help her walk them.

Keith Bollinger of Ephrata showed champions in both the Cheviot and in the Suffolk divisions. The 17-year-old raises 22 Cheviots and Suffolks and his brother has an additional 10. The Cheviot aged ewe has been named breed champion for three years at E-town.

The Suffolk champion is homebred ewe lamb whose mother was a former champion. The Suffolk also was named champion of its breed at the county 4-H Roundup held last week.

The Shropshire champion was a yearling ewe shown by Amy Bollinger of Manheim. The Shropshire is from her sister Tracy's FFA chain animal, which was the champion at the E-town Fair two years ago. In a repeat of last week's 4-H roundup, Bollinger also showed the reserve champion market lamb at E-town.

In Corriedale competition, Tim Walker showed a ewe lamb named Holly. The homebred's mother named Rosie was a former champion at the show. Tim, who is 12 and has been showing for three years, is the son of Jeff and Joanne Walker of Rheems.

A Montadale yearling ewe named Jelly Bean was named champion in the other breed class, which included Columbia and Jacob's breeds. Thirteen-year-old John Schmidt said that he purchased the champion Montadale from his 4-H leaders Bill and Joan McCauley. Named Jelly Bean because she was born on Easter, the yearling was also a champion at 4-H Roundup last week.

Exhibitors competed in showmanship in four different categories. Taking the 16-year-and-over class was Regina Landis. The 16-year-old has started the Fair season out with a bang by claiming showmanship trophies in this and in last week's 4-H county roundup.

In the 13- to 15-year-old division, Jennifer Zimmerman, another frequent winner, took top honors. She pastures a flock of 14 Southdowns in Akron.

In the 10- to 12-year-old division, John Tracy from E-town placed first. It was the 11-year-old's first win in showmanship. He is the son of Gerald and Helen and the younger of three boys, who are frequent winners in sheep competitions.

In the novice division, 8-year-old Joelynn Donough, despite her age, showed her expertise on keeping her eye on the judge and her sheep in control. The daughter of Ed and LaRue Donough, her brothers Travis and Ryan raise Suffolks and Hampshires on their Manheim farm. When asked how many sheep her family raise, Joelynn replied, "Too many."

'Born To' Become Superior 4-H'er

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Maggie Strausbaugh was born to become Lancaster County's 4-H Superior Award Winner, an annual honor given to an outstanding 4-H member.

With both parents serving as 4-H leaders and an older sister winning a previous outstanding 4-H'er honor, Maggie's life has been immersed in 4-H activities.

"I was born into it. Four-H is just what we did," the 18-year-old said of her involvement in an astounding array of clubs.

The daughter of Paul and Orpha Strausbaugh of Manheim recalled holding posters for her sister to do presentations before she herself was old enough to be a 4-H member.

When her sister was named the outstanding 4-H'er in 1987, Maggie's desire to win the same award was sparked. After 10 years in 4-H, an ecstatic Maggie claimed the honor at the 4-H Achievement Night held at the Farm and Home Center on Tuesday night.

Although this honor was the culmination of a long list of achievements and will enable her to attend the National 4-H Convention in Nashville, Tenn., in December, it was by no means the first honor Maggie has garnered.

She's been to leadership conferences, selected as a delegate to Harrisburg Capitol Days and to Washington Focus, been a regional fashion revue winner for two years, and received a trip to Puerto Rico as a member of the senior 4-H honor roll.

"Four-H has developed a lot of life skills within me that would have gone undeveloped otherwise," the college-bound student said.

Most noteworthy to her are the public speaking skills, leadership, and responsibility that was honed within her.

Maggie's parents have been leaders of the 4-H Exchange Club for 15 years. During these years, the family has traveled to states such as Oklahoma, Kansas, and Arizona. They have reciprocated the visits by hosting families from those states in their home. They have kept as many as seven exchange 4-H'ers in their home at one time.

"When the house is the fullest, we have the most fun," Maggie said. "We don't always have enough beds, but guests sleep on the sofa or whatever. By the time they leave, we have become best friends and cry our eyes out saying goodbye."

The 4-H Exchange Club holds tons of fundraisers so that members can raise their own money for airfare.

"4-H is diversified. The typical 4-H'er is no longer the kid with an animal," she said.

Some of her club involvement included basket making, calligraphy, sewing, cake decorating, wreath making, country wood painting, counted crosstitching, and Toastmaster's (public speaking).

A self-starter, Maggie isn't afraid to take charge when she sees a lack. Two years ago, she noticed a community 4-H club "going downhill."

She explained, "No one wanted to take charge, so I organized the club and got the leaders for the different projects. The parents who volunteered are enthusiastic, and now it's a thriving club."

Maggie has her own ideas for encouraging more membership and commitment to 4-H. She said, "Get them out of the community and into state and national 4-H levels. They'll see something they like and will see it through to the highest competition."

In addition, Maggie said, the friendships that members make with those at regional and state competitions encourages them to continue in 4-H projects just to see them again at other competitions.

Although 4-H has consumed much of Maggie's time, she has also found time to be president of Erismen's Mennonite Church Youth Group. At Manheim Central High School, she's been captain of the marching band, involved in drama and track and field, and been involved with the National Honor Society. She's also helped with fundraisers to fight cerebral palsy, and spent a week each helping with Habitat for Humanity and at hurricane cleanup in Florida.

In addition to accumulating points for 4-H projects over the years, Maggie and other 4-H members competing for the superior achievement award needed to write an essay, be interviewed by a panel of judges, and give an impromptu speech. Judges reviewed each contestant's scrapbooks detailing his or her 4-H involvement to determine the amount of participation.

In addition to her sister Amy Jo, Maggie has a brother Matthew who is married and a brother Patrick, 15.

Maggie also works part time at Country Table Restaurant as a waitress.

In a week, Maggie will be leaving for Messiah College in Gratham where she will study for a nursing degree. She hopes to return to this area and work in a hospital's emergency trauma unit.

Maggie attributes her mother Orpha, a 4-H leader for 15 years, as the impetus for 4-H involvement.

After 10 busy years in 4-H, Maggie Strausbaugh achieved the ultimate honor — the Superior Achievement Award.

Lancaster County 4-H Honors Superior Members

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — County 4-H'ers were honored for their outstanding work on Tuesday evening during 4-H Achievement Night here at the Farm and Home Center.

Lancaster recently took 32 4-H members to Penn State 4-H Week, competing in 12 different contests. The first place junior livestock judging team includes Nicole Eisenhour, Jessica Schmidt, and Kevin Pfautz. Kevin was also the first place individual in livestock junior juding. Fashion revue honors group included Melissa Holloway and Amy Bernard. Second place for hippology (the study of horses) included members Kelly Sullivan, Dana Bryson, Carol Hollingsworth, and Laura Henssler.

The fourth place senior dairy judging team was honored. Members include Jeremey Welk, Joe Best, Elizabeth Smith, and Heather Oberholtzer. The fifth place senior livestock judging team included members Sara Strickler, John Hess, and Dean Livengood.

Club scrapbook contest winners were also announced. They are Sequoia Riders, Saddle Cinches, Broken Bit, Spinning Spurs, and Boots 'N Saddles. Top ten blue form scrapbook winners were announced, including 1st through 3rd year, Abbey Hess, first, Whitney Ann Rehm, second, and Dylan Ellis, third. Fourth through 6th year winners were Amy Hess, first, Mark Graybill, second, and Marisa Stoner, third. Seven year and up winners were Gerald Boyd, first, Melissa Holloway, second, and Durelle Leaman, third.

Senior Honor Roll winners were Melissa Holloway, first, Gerald Boyd, second, and Amy Hoffines, third. Junior Honor Roll winners were Lauren Krantz, first, Laura Blank, second, and Abbey Hess, third.

At the festivities, talent award winners were Laura Blank, first; Rochelle Newcomer, second, and Robin Althouse, third.

Graduating 4-H member scholarships were announced. Winners this year are Amy Hoffines, Derek Stoner, and Durelle Leaman, each receiving $150. Kim McLaughlin received $200 and Maggie Strausbaugh, the 1996 Superior Achievement Award winner, announced at the festivities, received $350. Kirsten Kauffman, the 1995 Superior Achievement Award winner, won a $500 scholarship award.

Other contestants for the superior award included Sarah Strickler and Gerald Boyd.

E-town Fair Proclaims Hog 'The Best Of What We Got'

This reserve champion hog shown by Sarah Boyd will feed a lot of hungry people. Hoss's Steak and Sea House bought the 242-pound hog then donated it to the Elizabethtown Community Action Bank. Shown with Sarah are Caitlin Lindberg and Beth Fry, left, of Hoss's and Fair Queen Rebecca Vogt.

'Leed' Hampshire

Two Couples Tie The Knot Down On The Farm

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

FAIRFIELD (Adams Co.) — When Joan and Kenneth Brown decided to marry, they wanted a simple wedding that their 300 guests could enjoy. They decided that Brown's 103-acre dairy farm would be an excellent spot.

The groom wore a pair of bib overalls and a straw hat. The bride selected a country jumper and straw hat. Two calves served as the flower girls.

The wedding was such a huge hit with guests, that the Browns' friends Bud Yingling and Judy Neth asked if they could use the farm for their wedding this summer.

"Bud lives and breathes to talk about tractors," said Judy as she explained why she and Bud (Daniel) decided to have a country tractor wedding.

Bud's love for tractors is not surprising. He repairs and sells tractor parts at his business Yingling Sales and Services on Taneytown Road.

Although both ceremonies were held in front of the barn doors adorned with a cow, each left its own distinctive mark. While the Browns opted for country dress, Judy wanted to wear a "real" wedding gown. Her husband selected black pants and a white short-sleeved shirt.

Although she wore a wedding gown, it didn't hinder Judy from climbing aboard a brand new Ford tractor and riding to meet the groom instead of the traditional walk down the aisle.

The tractor imprinted on the wedding invitations for the Yinglings' country tractor wedding offered a preview of this tractor-theme wedding.

Because it was a second marriage for both Bud and Judy, the bride's three children and seven grandchildren and the groom's son made up the bridal party.

After the ceremony, the bridal party climbed aboard the hay wagon to drive to the three tents set up in a field where a whole beef had been roasted for guests. Judy made the three-layered wedding cake adorned with tractors and borrowed the decorative cows dressed as a bride and groom, which Joan had used for her wedding.

After the reception, tractor rides were offered to guests.

At the Browns' reception, about 250 guests could choose to either sit on hay bales or on the chairs arranged beneath two tents. A neighbor charcoaled a beef and a local restaurant provided much of the food.

Since their marriage, Joan continues to operate her beauty shop, but manages to feed calves and help on the farm.

"I love it. I learned a lot about dairy farming that most people don't know anything about," she said.

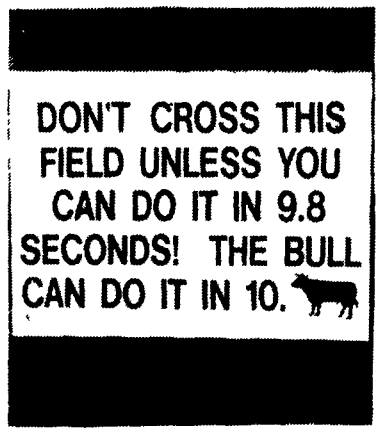
The Brown's farm is called "Round Toit," meaning "when I get around to it." The farm includes 103 acres and 70 milking cows, but Brown farms a total of 1,000 acres.

"We make a lot of round bale hay and grow corn," Brown said. Some of the acreage is also used for cattle grazing.

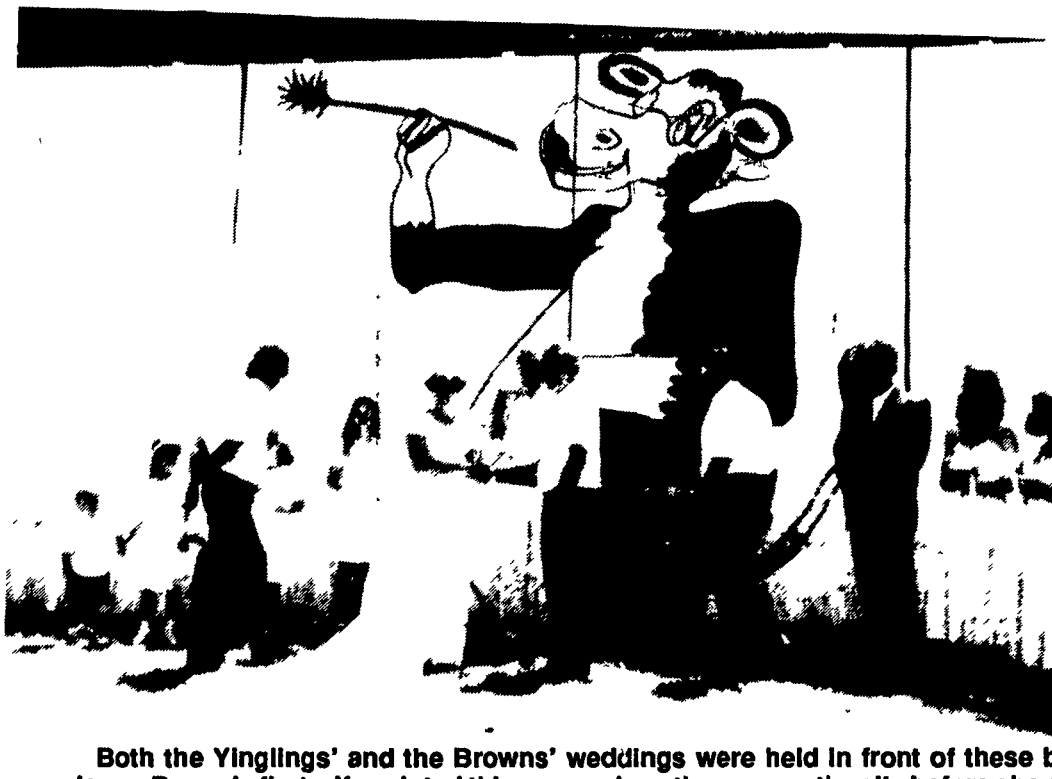
Brown said that he likes to invite a large crowd of people to his farm at least once a year. "That way, we keep it cleaned up. The barns all painted up and everything."

His former wife who died of a brain tumor had painted the cow on the barn doors and another one on the silo.

Dressed for the occasion, the groom and the minister wear bib overalls and the bride wears a country jumper. Notice that the groom and the minister, in respect of the ceremony, removed their hats and hung each on a pole. Although you can't see it, a rope was tied around the groom's leg and two calves served as the Browns' flower girls.



This sign warns wedding guests of impending danger.

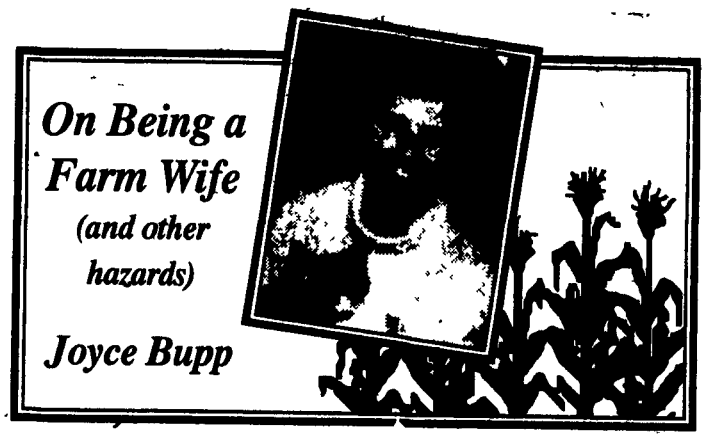


Both the Yinglings' and the Browns' weddings were held in front of these barn doors. Brown's first wife painted this cow and another one on the silo before she died of cancer. The Yinglings are shown here with the bridal party made up of their children and grandchildren.

A side benefit to a farm wedding is the exposure city guests have to country life. Here, a boy from the city delights in the opportunity to feed a calf.

Here comes the bride — driving a tractor to meet the groom. Guests wondered which captured the groom's attention more — the bride or the brand new tractor — lent to her from Antietam Ford.

HOMESTEAD NOTES



A fog still hovers over the meadow, as the sun begins its ascent into the misty morning sky.

The air hangs heavy, promising another day of the sticky humidity that has colored our summer with water-beaded window screens, envelopes stuck to bills and perpetually damp sneakers.

Then, in the few brief moments it takes to walk to the upper level of the barn to throw down hay for the heifers, change sweeps over the farm. A straight-edged, dark-clouded weather front thunders in overhead from the northwest. Tumbling ahead of the roiling mass of gray and white-edged clouds comes a refreshing change of air, several degrees lower in temperature and noticeably less humid.

I hustle into the barn just as the first fat drops plunk-plunk on the metal roof. Hay bales put up earlier in the week are strewn about the barn floor, curing from unwanted dampness. When showers sprinkle (or pour) two of every three days, haymaking becomes an exercise in frustration — and sometimes futility.

Wet bales stacked together tightly in a mow can generate so much heat they can (and do) spontaneously combust, too often taking barns with them. So, about two dozen damp bales have been separated from the dry ones, thrown about the floor to be fed right away, before the tightly-packed hay in them spoils. I lug a couple of those closest to the open door, where the intensifying rain will dampen them further, and push them down the hay-drop hole to the feed alley beneath.

Earlier, The Farmer had warned me there was a likelihood of a storm passing through. These noisy, wet weather interruptions inevitably thunder in while I'm in the middle of feeding calves and heifers, running in and out between buildings with bottles of milk, feed, hay and bedding.

But this was early morning, for goodness' sake, and not one of these late afternoon boomers.

Another weird turn in a year of weird weather.

While my Oklahoma brother's garden and yard have withered under broiling heat and perpetual dust, we do constant battle with super-moisture-boosted greenery. Heavy, fall grasses have taken root in every damp corner imaginable, sprouting up from barn foundations and cracks in the driveway blacktop.

"Enough!" has declared the lawnmower, apparently weary of chewing through another round of dense, damp grass. Moved to the gas tank for a fill-up, the mower went into protest-mode, merely humming when the key was turned instead of its usual noisy engine start-up. Our lawn yield — at least from the piles I've raked and raked — point to a record yield of a couple tons of grass to the acre, put in farm measurements.

French marigolds planted along the border look as though they've been given steroid treatments. Marigold "bushes" our visiting daughter dubs these two-foot-high plants, intended to form a tidy, low, yellow edge along the border. Somewhere behind them — amid the lush clumps of foxtail grass — are red and pink geranimiums and assorted colors of snapdragons. Somewhere there in the jungle. I think.

And on the lower edge of a cattle drinking bowl, in a box stall in the dairy barn, a stalk of chickweed has taken root and formed a cascade of delicate green stems, nature's own hanging plant. In this fast-fading summer's greenhouse environment of the area, the only green thumb one needs is one turned that color from yanking out all the lush, unwanted volunteers.

But take heed. A late-night newscast one recent evening very seriously warned that snowblower sales are picking up and at least one supplier expected to run out by mid-September.

Oh! Puleeeze ...!

Birthday Parties That Don't Break The Bank

RUTGERS, N.J. — Birthday parties are a wonderful way to mark a child's progress in life. They can be a lot of fun, a great photo opportunity as well as a lot of work and expense.

Parents surveyed by Rutgers Cooperative Extension reported parties costing as much as $50 to $100 by the time entertainment, paper goods, party favors, and food were purchased.

You can save personal energy, wear and tear on your house, and financially by paring down the guest list. Invite about the same number of guests as the age of the birthday child. Keep food simple. Most children are excited by and just interested in cake and ice cream.

Keep the guest list short and you can eliminate the need for hiring entertainment or having the party at a party place. If you feel that you must invite the whole class, have the party outdoors or clear the garage (walls can be covered with sheets). Libraries have wonderful party planning books that suggest party themes and simple games. Musical chairs, and the "Hokey Pokey" are games children love. Instead of buying party favors, make them or include creating a favor as a party activity. Making puppets, musical instruments, or masks can help to set a theme.

The following books suggest many ways to plan a party that even the host can enjoy: "The Woman's Day Book of Children's Birthday Parties," by Frances Zweifel (Penguin Books), "50 Fabulous Parties for Kids," by Linda Hetzer (Crown Trade Paperbacks), "A Piece of Cake," by Gwenn Boechler, Shirley Charlton and Alice Traer Wayne (Doubleday), and the "Penny Whistle Party Planner," by Meredith Brokaw (Simon and Schuster).

Apple Butter Making Contest

WINCHESTER, Va. — The Virginia Championship Apple Butter Making Contest will be held on Saturday, September 21, in the Winchester Recreation Park. The annual event is held in conjunction with the Rotary Club's Apple Harvest Festival and affords the participants an opportunity to win more than $700 in prize money.

If you are interested in trying to unseat the 1995 Virginia Apple Butter Making Champion — Effinger Fire Company of Lexington, Virginia — contact the Frederick County Extension Service by writing to Second Floor, Frederick County Courthouse, 20 North Loudoun Street, Winchester, VA 22601; or phoning (540) 665-5699 for rules and an entry form.

Children Home Alone?

Children of today's families may find themselves at home alone before and/or after school hours. This may occur due to families' schedules not matching one another, inflexible work hours, and situations beyond their control like transportation problems, long errands, bad weather, or poor communication.

Today fewer than 10 percent of our population lives in the "classic" household headed by a male breadwinner. Due to the economic pressure families face, often both parents are working outside the home, their children spend the day in child care. A wide variety of child care services are being offered. Families may select child care settings such as day care centers, family child care homes, "Y" programs, after school care, nanny services, neighbors, or relatives. The arrangements made for young children, infant through preschool age are often forced to change once children reach elementary school. Families' finances or work schedules may also cause families to look for alternatives.

Changes in day care settings are often difficult decisions for families. As children reach the 8 to 12 year age group, the become more independent and begin to verbalize the need for a change. Some families have selected self care — children alone at home after school. In 1995, it is estimated that 15 million children in the United States cared for themselves or siblings without adult supervision.

For those parents with children home alone without adult supervision, even for short periods of time, the worries are endless. In order to prepare your children for this experience, parents should discuss these questions:

Can my child take a phone message accurately?

Can my child find interesting and/or useful activities?

Does my child obey the rules for our home?

Can my child prepare a simple snack?

Does my child know what action to take in an emergency?

If parents answered YES to these questions, they can feel fairly confident that their school age children are prepared to take on the job of caring for themselves.

Penn State Cooperative Extension and 4-H offer several programs to families, groups, and schools: Kids In Control, On My Own and OK, and What to do...at Home. Highlights of the curricula include handling emergencies, home safety, activities to prevent boredom, family communication, setting rules for the home, and time management.

In this forever changing society, we must teach children new skills which will help them to be competant in their daily lives. Families wishing to better prepare their children for self care should contact the Penn State Cooperative Extension office in their county.

Allergic Reactions To Insect Stings Can Be Prevented

SPRING MILLS (Centre Co.) — Being stung by a bumble bee or yellow jacket and experiencing a severe allergic reaction certainly isn't one of the most pleasant experiences in life. Dr. Robert Reisman, former president of the American Academy of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology has some suggestions for preventing allergic reactions this summer.

"People who have had a history of allergic reactions may have a venom allergy and should be tested by an allergist. They should be educated on insect avoidance, given an epinephrine kit for emergency use and evaluated for venom immunotherapy, a vaccination program that protects 98 percent of persons against future reactions."

There are more than two million Americans allergic to insect stings, many of whom could benefit from immunotherapy. This treatment not only prevents future reactions, but in doing so, also improves a patient's quality of life by eliminating the fear associated with insect stings.

In a recent article appearing in Modern Medicine, Dr. Reisman suggests that "persons who have had a reaction to a sting, who have positive skin tests and have not undergone immunotherapy, have a 60-70 percent likelihood of having another reaction the next time they're stung."

He also says that "the more severe the reaction a person has, the greater his chances are of having another severe reaction."

For a free patient information brochure on preventing allergic reactions written by the American College of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology, call 1-800-23 STING.

Mushroom Festival Parade

KENNETT SQUARE (Chester Co.) — Final preparations are being made for the 1996 National Mushroom Festival parade and Tournament of Bands, to be held in Kennett Square, Saturday, September 14, at 4:00 p.m.

The theme for the '96 parade is "A Hollywood Salute to Mushrooms" in celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Mushroom as an agricultural crop.

As always the parade promises to be one of the largest in the Mid Atlantic region and will feature some 20 marching bands, from four states. Included will be the "Reilly Raiders" and "Yankee Rebels" National Champion Drum and Bugle Corps., The Avalon String Band, The Pipes and Drums of the Delaware Valley, and many of the finest high school bands from the tri-state area.

Making their first appearance are recording artists Frank Della Penna and "Cast in Bronze" playing the worlds only traveling carillion. Other guests include perennial favorite Sally Star, Miss USA representatives, Miss Universe 1995, and Susan Richardson from TV's "Eight is Enough" fame.

Floats will be presented from many organizations.

The Parade Route begins at Kennett High School, proceeds North on Broad, left on State, left on Meredith, left on Cypress, right on Union back to Kennett High School. Parking will not be permitted on the Parade Route. For more information contact Phil Krula at the Southern Chester County Chamber Office at (610) 444-0774.

Developing Financial Skills

This past week, many parents sent their nearly-grown children off to college. I expect it was with some trepidation that moms and dads said their good-byes. They many have also been experiencing anxiety as they helped their children write checks for textbooks, meal plans, a first refrigerator full of groceries and a closet full of personal supplies.

At some point, the torch of financial responsiblity is passed from parent to child. This can be an uncertain time for both parties. But as a parent, you can prepare your children throughout their lives to assume financial tasks. And you can provide structure and guidance as they develop the necessary discipline and organization skills to handle money and banking decisions well.

Dorothy Rich, author of "MegaSkills," suggests the following ideas as experiences that begin to build a foundation of financial skills. Even with children as young as preschoolers you can begin teaching money lessons. When they play store, give them paper money and empty food containers. Mark the containers with realistic prices. You can even help them to look through grocery store ads and talk with them about what's on sale this week. That can be part of their "play" time. With older children, make sure they have enough money (even if it is play) to pay for the items in their basket.

An older child can be a helper following a real trip to the grocery store. Ask him to check off the items on the receipt as you put them away in the cupboard. He calls off the price and makes sure that everything on the grocery list was purchased. Did you pay more for any items than you had realized? If your child helps you to make a more economical decision, salute him by posting the savings announcement in a prominent spot on the refrigerator: "This week, Stephen found a loaf of bread on sale. This saved us 40¢."

When you prepare to pay your monthly bills, make the task into a game for your elementary school-aged child. On the left-hand margin of a paper, write a list of household bills — groceries, electrity, mortgage/rent, telephone, fees for music lessons or sports groups, garbage removal, etc. Then on the right-hand side, write the amount owed that month. Fold the paper in half and ask your child to guess how much each bill/household expense is. Then check the results. You can carry this activity further by adding all the expenses and subtracting from your income.

Educators have observed that it does little good to recall your own childhood days and how you "did without." What is helpful is to demonstrate the current financial pressures and choices that you make. Each time your child sees a part of your family's financial responsiblities, she will understand more clearly the limits on your money.

These activities help build skills slowly so children are prepared for financial independence. However, if you are concerned that your college students have not yet perfected the art of responsible money management, it may be wise to be quite strict relative to credit. Credit card companies target college students. They give away free items in student unions and coax students to sign-up with little/no verification of ability to pay. Why? College students demonstrate a love for discretionary spending. And history has shown that when students default, parents step in and rescue! Few parents are willing to allow their children the pain of a scarred credit history at such a young age. These two factors mean that credit card companies can make lots of money.

Parents use caution when your college student requests use of your credit card or asks your to co-sign for a loan or a card. Instead, explore the possibility of obtaining a secured bank card. These cards are backed by a student's savings in a bank, and the institution will not okay purchases beyond the dollar amount in the account. Another alternative is to make an agreement that parents will deposit a set amount in a banking account each month. This account can be accessed by an automatic teller card. You and your child should discuss what the funds will cover. Then, when the money is gone, it's gone for the month!

Don't rescue your child. It is far better for a college student to learn planning lessons now than to wait until they have a family or home and realize that they have not yet learned to prioritize their spending.

Each of these actions and dicussions takes time. Weigh the investment and choose to act today.

From Garden To Table

Eating is never better than at this time of the year. Summer produce adds flavor and color to every meal. The garden-ripe vegetables are higher in nutrients and the enhanced flavor encourages people to eat more vegetables and fruit.

While produce is more nutritious raw, it adds interest and variety to have cooked dishes. Many of today's recipes will preserve the taste of summer for winter eating.

SANDWICH SPREAD

3 quarts ground tomatoes
1 quart green peppers
1 quart red peppers
1 quart onions
1 quart carrots

Grind and combine tomatoes, peppers, onions and carrots. Sprinkle with ⅓ cup of salt. Let stand one hour then squeeze with hands. Add:

1 pint vinegar
1½ pounds sugar

Cook mixture for 30 minutes. Add:

Farm weddings are in the vogue at Joan and Ken Brown's farm. Last year, they tied the knot on the farm, and this July, friends Judy Neth and Bud Yingling stood in the same spot to say their vows.

Read about Judy driving a tractor to meet the groom, and the two calves that served as flower girls for Joan in today's Homestead Notes page.

One of Joan Brown's favorite recipes is one that she clipped from Lancaster Farming year's ago. While "vinegar pie" might not sound appetizing to many people, Joan promises that people love it.

Leadline Competition At Bedford Fair

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Leadline competition was "hot and heavy" as it kicked off opening day of the Bedford County Fair.

Judges were put to the test as they had to choose between outstanding competitors of various ages.

In the opening show, Beau Dull of Manns Choice took home the youngest age trophy while Lacey Sollenberger of New Enterprise placed second and Jacob Bowser was third.

Rebecca Lohr of New Paris took home a trophy from the second-age category, while Kyler Myers was second, and Kayla Dull, third.

Myers was back with his black sheep saved from the butcher last year by a benevolent uncle who purchased "Blackie" from his sister at the Junior Livestock sale. The uncle, Roy Kegg, gave the sheep back to the owner who gave it to her younger brother, Kyler.

The third-age category was won by Summer Lingenfelter of Alum Bank while Trisha Miller, Schellsburg, was second.

Handmade wool outfit competition had a total of six talented seamstresses.

Aleecha Jones placed first; Heidi Shyrock, second; and Holly Schaeffer, third.

Family fairs were won by Aleecha Jones and her cousin, Heidi Shyrock. Second was Kayla and Beau Dull. Third went to Heather and Margaret Schaeffer.

In individual novelty competition, Matthew Stanton was first, Allison Shastay, second and Jacob Boswer third.

Second class of novelty competition had Brett Griffiths placed first; Bradley Ewing, second; and Katie Alexander, third.

The oldest class of novelty winners went to Allen Lee Lassinger first; Ashley Lassinger, second; and Holly Schaeffer, third Novelty winners in the fifth class, which included pairs, were: Rebecca Lohr and Hunter Lohr. Zach Conley and Kevin Thomas and Aaron, Elijah, and Joshua Claycomb.

Bradley Ewing was going fishing (for a sheep fish?) and on the way won a red ribbon.

Matthew Stanton and his engineer sheep won a first in the novelty class.

Kayle and Beau Dull cut quite a splash in their handmade woolen outfits.

Rebecca Lohr and her little brother, Hunter, were a hit with this "Wizard of Oz" scene. Rebecca was Dorothy; Hunter the lion; and the lamb was the Tin Man.

4-H Forestry Invitational

The first-ever Pennsylvania 4-H forestry team recently returned from the National 4-H Forestry Invitational held at the Jackson's Mill State 4-H Camp in West Virginia.

Pennsylvania's first-ever team placed 11th with 1228.5 total points. The team was made up of Ellie Kokolis and Gus Pollack from Indiana County, John Albright from Bedford County, and Mike Leese from Fulton County.

Coaches were Jane Kokolis from Indiana County and Robert Hansen, extension forester in Bradford County. Steve Wacker, service forester with the Pennsylvania Bureau of Forestry in Bedford County, assisted in training the team for competition.

Event planners complimented the Pennsylvania team for their excellent showing and the Pennsylvania team finished above some past invitational winners.

If you are interested in participating in the 4-H forestry program or would like more information about the many 4-H opportunities, contact the Lycoming County Extension Office at (717) 327-2350 and speak with the 4-H coordinator.

QUESTION — Jean Nestler, Halifax, would like a recipe to make chocolate syrup.

QUESTION — Marsha Getty, Oxford, would like recipes for quick bread.

QUESTION — A reader would like a recipe for tomato jam not jelly that had been printed on the recipe sheet in the Sure Jel box.

QUESTION — Mrs. C.S. Yoder, Lewisburg, lost the clipping for pancakes that appeared in this paper about one month ago. She writes that the ingredients included 2 cups oatmeal and 2 cups buttermilk. Does any one know to which recipe she is referring?

QUESTION — Laurie Woodrick, Belle Mead, N.J., writes that about five years ago, a recipe for Oil and Vinegar Jalapeno Pickles appeared in this paper. The contributor wrote that the pickles are the best she ever tasted and Laurie agrees. But she misplaced the recipe. If you clipped the recipe, please send it to use so we can print it again.

QUESTION — Marlene Hursh, Morrisville, Vt., would like a recipe for deep fried ice cream.

QUESTION — Shirley Lilley, Baltimore, Md., would like a recipe for gingerbread square cupcakes and frosting (a dolop on top of each) such as marketed by Valley Pride Bakery each fall season and sold in the Chambersburg area.

QUESTION — Mary Ann Lutz, Bethel, would like a funnel cake recipe. Also, she would like a recipe for dip or batter to dip in deep fried vegetables such as mushrooms, cauliflower, and onion puffs.

QUESTION — E.J. Beaver, Ringtown, would like a recipe for marinated mushrooms that taste similar to those served at Shaw's Deli on Tilghman St., Allentown. She also would like different methods for cooking trout. E.J. writes that her mother worked away from home and didn't have time to teach her to cook. Little by little, E.J. is learning to cook by using the recipes in this column.

QUESTION — A Columbia reader would like a recipe or a place to purchase goat milk candy in chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry flavors.

QUESTION — Charlotte Devilbiss, Taneytown, Md., needs the address of the company that makes Clear-Jel.

QUESTION — Anna Lynch, Pasadena, Md., wants recipes for plain yeast bread.

QUESTION — Yvonne Musser, Lancaster, said she would like a recipe for buttermilk salad like they serve at Akron Restaurant in Akron.

QUESTION — Dixie Fix, Harrisonville, would like some recipes using stuffing tomatoes. She planted seed from Gurney's. All they had was yellow seed. Does anyone know if seeds are available for green stuffing tomatoes or if they can be stuffed like peppers and frozen?

QUESTION — Alta Sensenig, Newville, would like to have a recipe for butter and egg dinner rolls, which are really moist.

QUESTION — Christine Ayers of Clarks Summit would like a recipe for apple cider doughnuts and cabbage salad that tastes like that made at the Country Cupboard Restaurant in Lewisburg.

QUESTION — A faithful New York reader would like a recipe for an old-fashioned strawberry shortcake with a cooked frosting.

QUESTION — A York County reader would like to know how to pasteurize eggs at home.

ANSWER — Marie Clover, Ottsville, wanted a recipe for old-time tomato jelly or jam. Thanks to Anna Martin, Denver, for sending one.

Yellow Tomato Preserves

1 pound yellow tomatoes, peeled and sliced
¾ pound sugar
½ lemon

Peel tomatoes and cut into thin pieces. Add sugar and let stand one hour. Add thinly sliced lemon and rind. Cook until the tomatoes are clear and the syrup is thickened. Pour into jars and seal.

ANSWER — Thanks to Sue Pardo for sending recipes for herb vinegar and pesto.

Herb Vinegars

2 cups white vinegar
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup basil leaves

Place the above in a microwave safe measuring cup. Cook on high power for 3½ minutes. Remove from microwave and stir. cook for 3½ more minutes. Remove from microwave oven. Let cool to room temperature. Pour into clean bottles or jars and cover tightly. After a week, you may replace basil leaves with fresh leaves. Do not need to refrigerate.

Pardo's Pesto

½ box spaghetti noodles, cooked and drained
¼ -½ cup herb vinegar
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon onion flakes
1-2 tablespoons dried or ¼ cup fresh basil
1-2 tablespoons sugar (adjust for taste)
1-2 teaspoon minced garlic
Grated cheese, desired

Cook vinegar on medium heat. Add butter, garlic, onion, sugar and half of the basil until butter is melted and mixture is reduced by half. Add noodles, stir well, and warm on low heat. Just before serving, stir in remainder of basil and top with cheese.

Most pestos use pine nuts or walnuts. Add if desired.

ANSWER — Mary Ann Lutz, Bethel, wanted a recipe to deep fry vegetables such as mushrooms, cauliflower, and onion puffs. Thanks for this recipe from Stan's Kitchen.

Cauliflower In Batter

2½ -3 pounds cauliflower
1½ cups water
2 cups all-purpose flour
2 eggs, lightly beaten
Oil for frying
Salt to taste

Remove leaves from cauliflower. Slice cauliflower in half. Fill a large saucepan two-thirds full with salted water. Bring water to a boil. Add cauliflower. Cook over high heat 15 to 20 minutes or until tender. Drain on paper towels; cool. Put 1½ cups water in a medium bowl. Gradually sift flour into water, beating constantly. Beat in eggs. Batter should be the consistency of mayonnaise. Batter can be prepared a few hours ahead. Pour oil 2 inches deep in a large saucepan or deep fryer. Heat oil to 375 degrees or until a one-inch cube of bread turns golden brown almost immediately. Detach florets from cauliflower. When golden on all sides, remove from oil with slotted spoon. Drain on paper towels. Arrange drained cauliflower on a warm platter and season with salt. Serve hot. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

VEGETABLE TUNA CASSEROLE

2 cans tuna fish or salmon
3 cups uncooked noodles
½ cup chopped celery
⅓ cup sliced green onion
⅔ cup sour cream
2 teaspoons mustard
½ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt
1 small zuchinni, sliced
1 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese
1 medium tomato, chopped

Cook noodles according to package directions. Drain and rinse with hot water. Drain tuna. Combine tuna, celery, onions, and noodles. Blend in sour cream, mustard, mayonnaise and salt. Spoon half the mixture into a buttered 2-quart casserole. Top with half the zucchini. Repeat layers. Top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Sprinkle with chopped tomato. May add chopped fresh parsley, dill, basil or chives to the casserole.

ZUCCHINI PARMESAN

½ cup grated parmesan cheese
6 medium sliced zucchini
⅓ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 large clove garlic
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon rosemary
4 cups peeled tomatoes
¼ cup olive oil

Heat oil in large skillet. Add zucchini, onion, parsley, garlic, salt, pepper, oregano, and rosemary.

Saute mixture over medium heat, stirring often, until zucchini is crisp and tender (15 minutes).

Toss in chopped tomatoes and continue to saute until tomatoes are thoroughly heated (5 minutes).

Turn mixture into a serving dish; sprinkle with parmesan cheese.

ZUCCHINI ROMA

5 medium zucchini
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon ground pepper
¼ cup olive oil
2 sliced tomatoes
1 cup sour cream
½ cup parmesan cheese

Wash and scrub zucchini well and cut into thin round pieces. Combine flour with half the salt, pepper, and oregano in a bowl. Coat zucchini slices in mixture.

Heat oil in a skillet and saute zucchini until browned. Place zucchini in a greased baking dish and top with tomato.

Combine sour cream and the remainder of the salt, oregano, and pepper and spread over tomato slices. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

Peter Rabbits Pumpkin Patch at the York Fair

Kids can make a tasty mini cheese pizza on an English muffin. Right? For children's gardening, the simplest garden recipes are the best. Here's an idea for a children's garden anyone can try.

A new version of the amazing maze will be at the York Fair from Sept. 6 to 13. The 'Great and Small' gardener will truly be amazed at a children's garden called, "Peter Rabbit's Pizza Patch." The garden will be in the shape of a large veggie and herb pizza for children to touch, smell and explore. All young children are welcome. The garden is free.

Located at the 4-H Animal Learning Center tent, the garden was designed by the Penn State Master Gardeners for pre-school and elementary age children. The garden even plays home for a rabbit named "Peter" and Master gardeners known as Mr. and Mrs. McGregor and a scarecrow.

A rainbow of vegetables and herbs make up each pizza slice containing different plants. Plants include paste tomato, oregano, onion chives, sage, hot peppers, lovage, winter savory, garlic chives, and others. For interest, use basil, Italian parsley, english thyme, curly parsley or marjoram in the outer edges of the pie.

Pizza gardens can also have seasonal interest. Add a combination of annual, perennial and edible flowers. Potted plans like spearmint and rosemary can be placed in the center of the garden. For best results, choose a location in full sun with a southeast exposure. Find a site with well-drained soil with a pH of 6.5-7.2.

The best size for children is a 16-foot diameter round garden with 6 garden slices. For an even smaller version, a half circle pizza slice can be planted along a walk or patio. Plant one slice with herbs and edible flower crust, one slice with veggies and one slice planted with potted herbs. For the adventurous gardener, the metropolitan thick crust pizza shape could have 1 foot grass paths (the width of a lawn mower) with brick edging.

Your pizza garden could contain a one-half round whiskey barrel in the center planted with tender herbs. Three weeks prior to a killing frost, bring in the tender herbs and place in a protected patio room or well lit garage. An east or west window is preferred.

Annual flowers for the border of the pizza garden might be calendula, pansies, mexican marigold, forget-me-not, small leafed geraniums, impatiens, bush-type nasturtium, begonias, or others.

Perennials include tulips, violets, viola, johnny-jump-ups or carnation-pinks. Cheddar pink would be a great carnation choice to put some cheese into the garden. Even english daisies and all types of lavender work well.

To allow light into the center of the garden, have oregano facing east and winter savory (or summer) facing west.

Try these other saucy pizzas. Plant variegated forms of herbs when you find a good culinary cultivar you like. Or, plant dwarf forms of herbs in the crust border. Remember to include only plants you will use in cooking or decoarting. Replace plants that don't do well. Keep the hardiest plants for children to enjoy each year.

Easy Pizza

1 English muffin, split and toasted
4 teaspoons pizza sauce
3 tablespoons cooked lean ground beef, seasoned with ground pepper, onion, dried oregano, basil and dash of garlic powder
3 tablespoons shredded part skim mozzarella cheese

ANSWER — Jerry Johnson, Herndon, wanted a recipe for canning spaghetti with meat. He'd also like a recipe to can chicken noodle soup. Thanks to a reader for sending a recipe.

Spaghetti Sauce To Can

2 pounds ground beef
2 pounds loose hot or sweet Italian sausage, browned and drained
6 onions, fried in oil
4 6-ounce cans tomato paste
12 quarts whole plum tomatoes, peeled
6 tablespoons basil leaves
4 tablespoons salt
1 tablespoon pepper
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon minced garlic
1 tablespoon oregano

Bring to a boil and simmer 30 to 60 minutes. If mixture is too thin, add more tomato paste. When ready to pour mixture into jars, add:

1½ cups parmesan cheese

Pour into jars and pressure can one hour at 10 pounds pressure or freeze.

CHICKEN CORN SOUP TO CAN

8 pounds stewing chicken
5 quarts water
1 quart celery, chopped fine
2 onions, chopped
2 quarts corn
6 tablespoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons parsley flakes
1 pound noodles

In large kettle, cover the cut-up chicken with water, add salt and pepper. Cook until tender. Remove chicken. Strain broth (remove excess fat). In large kettle, cook the celery and onions with broth. Bring to a boil. Cook 5 minutes with remaining ingredients. Add noodles. Pressure can, 50 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

Help Others By Telling

Each year, hundreds of people are killed in farm-related accidents in the United States. In addition thousands of children are injured on farms. Some injuries happen when children are performing farm chores such as tractor driving or feeding cows. Others happen when young children mistakenly drink industrial cleaners, which are poisonous.

During the week of September 15-21, the National Safety Council encourages all Americans to put special emphasis on farm safety. This paper will carry articles to teach children about safety risks. Included will be some fun puzzles and pictures that show you how to be more careful.

Also, we would like to know if you were ever hurt on the farm? Or, do you know of someone who was hurt?

Write and tell us about it so that other children may learn from your experience to be more careful. Address you letters to Lancaster Farming, Attention: Lou Ann Good, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522 or call (717) 626-1164 to tell us about it. Ask for Lou Ann Good.

Flying dragons
Getting bitten by mosquitoes this summer? Try making friends with a dragonfly
These flying insects with big, shiny wings love to munch on gnats, flies, mosquitoes and other tiny bugs — and they're really good at it, because everything about dragonflies helps them catch food
They can fly as fast as 35 miles per hour, and they've got great maneuverability (It only takes them one body length to turn around as they fly) Long, skinny legs, each with a row of stiff bristles on either side, scoop smaller flying insects out of the air and trap them until the dragonflies eat them
Some dragonflies use perches and watch for passing insects When a potential meal is close enough, the dragonfly darts out after it and brings it back to his roost to eat Other kinds of dragonflies have bad table manners — they fly around, dart after prey while in flight, and then eat while they keep flying!
To see dragonflies do their thing, watch for them around ponds, lakes or slow-moving rivers during the middle of a summer day. They skim back and forth above the water, and every so often chase another dragonfly And if you're lucky, you might even see them snatch a tasty meal!

This Vegetable Is More Than A Hill Of Beans

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

KEEDYSVILLE, Md. — Edible soybeans are "More than just a hill of beans," according to University of Maryland home economics agent Cassandra Corridon. They are high in protein and fiber, an excellent source of calcium, B vitamins and iron, a complete source of essential amino acids, low in saturated fats, and cholesterol free. Sandy touted the beans at a program held recently at the Field Day at Western Maryland Research and Education Center (WMREC) in Keedysville, Washington County.

"They are easy and convenient to use, and can be made a part of any recipe," Sandy told her audience. Look for tofu, a processed form of the beans, in the fresh produce section of your grocery store. Other processed soy products include soy flour, soy milk, tempeh, and TSP, or texturized soy protein, which is made from defatted soy flour.

Less well known to consumers, and a great deal more difficult to find, are fresh edible green soybeans. Test plots are currently being trialed at WMREC and several other research farms in Maryland. According to WMREC farm manager Frank Allnutt, 10 named varieties of the edible beans are being grown in test plots alongside regular field beans. "This is the first year we have grown them here," Allnutt said. The beans can be steamed an eaten as a fresh vegetable.

The University is looking at which soybean varieties have the characteristics which make them more appropriate for people to eat. Specifically, the Extension service is looking at the usability for tofu or as fresh beans, yield, and usability for dried beans. While edible soybeans are classified according to maturity groups like their field bean cousins, when they are harvested green they don't take as long.

Dr. Herb Reed, area extension agent in field crops for Southern Maryland, is currently researching the edible green soybeans. According to Dr. Reed, some varieties of soybeans tend to have lower levels of proteinase inhibitors, substances which make them more difficult for people to digest. The presence or absence of proteinase inhibitors, and the tenderness of the pod are the two primary factors that differentiate edible green soybeans from field varities. "Some have pod types that can be used unshelled like a snow pea, and some can be shelled out and eaten like a fresh green pea," said Dr. Reed.

The edible beans are relatively new here, but have been produced in Japan for quite a while, said Dr. Reed. There, breeders are also focusing on developing processing beans for tofu, because different characteristics are required for processing than for eating the beans fresh from the field. Specifically, they want a larger seed for processing, and one where the hylum, or area where the seed is connected to the pod, is clear or white. In most soybeans the hylum is dark.

Whether you can find a source for the fresh edible green soybeans, or you incorporate the processed form, tofu, into your diet, you can take advantage of the healthful vegetable.

Research shows soybeans are helpful in preventing and fighting cancer because they are rich in compounds called phytochemicals, which are plant nutrients. They may inhibit tumor growth. They can help reduce heart disease by inhibiting plaque growth in the arteries. They help fight osteoporosis not only becaue they are themselves an excellent source of calcium, but also because soy protein helps conserve the calcium in our bodies. They can hlep control diabetes by slowing the absorption of sugar in the bloodstream. Finally, they can slow down menopause symptoms because they contain phytoestrogen, or plant estrogen.

Cherry Tofu Delight

1 (8 ounce) package low-fa cream cheese, softened
1 (10.5 ounce) package firm tofu
1 (8 ounce) container lite whipped topping
1 can cherry pie filling

Blend cream cheese and tofu in blender until smooth. Fold in whipped topping. Mix in pie filling and spoon into parfait glasses. Refrigerate until set. Garnish and serve. Yield: 16 servings (178 calories, 4.2g fat).

Tofu Croutons

1 tablespoon cornmeal
1 teaspoon dried oregano
1 pound extra-firm light tofu, drained and cut into ½ -inch cubes
1 tablespoon tamari
Vegetable cooking spray
Romaine lettuce, sliced
Fat-free Caesar Dressing
Fresh grated Parmesan cheese

Combine cornmeal and oregano; stir well. Combine tofu and tamari in a bowl; toss gently to coat. Sprinkle cornmeal mixture over tofu; toss gently to coat. Coat a large nonstick skillet with cooking spray, and place over medium heat until hot. Add tofu; cook 3 minutes or until lightly browned turning occasionally. Remove from skillet; set aside. Toss romaine lettuce with dressing. Top salad with Parmesan cheese and ½ cup croutons.

Missing Egg Salad

1 pound firm low-fat tofu
1 large stalk celery, chopped
¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons to ¼ cup sweet pickle relish
¼ cup low-fat mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Salt and pepper to taste

In a large bowl, mash the tofu with a fork; it will be crumbly. Add the celery, onion, relish, mayonnaise, mustard, salt and pepper; mix thoroughly. Serve the spread on whole wheat bread or in pita pockets with lettuce, sliced tomatoes and sprouts. Makes 4 servings (66 calories, 2f fat).

A cherry dessert was just one of the healthful tofu dishes created and served by Cassandra Corridon.

Annual Benefit Sale

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — If you happen to be traveling or vacationing in Lancaster County Tourist Country on Saturday, Labor Day weekend, 8:00-4:00, be sure to turn North on Shirk Road, 1 mile of Route 23, West of New Holland. The Annual Benefit Sale is being held at Beiler Hydraulics' former location. Homemade ice cream will be made on site, with antique Hit and Miss engines and old-time freezers. The local community will be making on-site subs, soft pretzels, chicken Bar-B-Que, chicken corn soup, and donuts. Plenty of fresh baked goods, crafts and much more will be offered in a flea market style. Platters (chicken bar-b-que, baked potatoes, and coleslaw) will be served 10:00-3:00. This is an annual nonprofit event done by the community as a fund drive to help the unfortunate families with large hospital bills. Come on over. The food is delicious! The people are friendly. "Chust eat yourself full!" Spend the day in the country.

From left, Brande Rapp, great grandmother Margaret Wertz, son Jim, granddaughter Melissa, daughter-in-law Marge, and great granddaughter Selena share their love for cows and 4-H.

Four Generations Draw Closer Through 4-H Involvement

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

PHOENIXVILLE (Chester Co.) — "Hold her head up. Make her look like a proud Jersey."

If you heard that stage whisper or a similar one recently during a dairy show, it probably came from Margaret Wertz, a Chester County 4-H leader.

"How else are the kids going to learn? Margaret asks in defense of her coaching from the sidelines.

Margaret ought to know. The debut of her great granddaughter Selena leading a Jersey around the show ring marks the fourth generation influenced by Margaret's love for both kids and Jerseys.

Most great grandmothers love children, but to give up leisure time and find the energy to lead a group of 4-H'ers is no job for retirement. Why does she do it?

Margaret answers that question by asking a question of her own. "Have you ever seen a 4-H'er go bad?"

She pauses, then answers, "Very few. . . very few. Keep them busy in 4-H and they won't have time to get into trouble."

It brings Margaret, who is also a school bus driver, much pleasure to see kids interested in 4-H. She's also quick to admit that she has little patience with girls who are more interested in boys than the animals they are showing.

"I keep them in line. Some think I'm too strict, but when it's time to get down to business, I tell them."

While she's quick to bark out orders, Margaret's gruff exterior softens easily whenever she talks about one of her 4-H kids or a Jersey — "They're so sweet."

She's even more proud of her granddaughter Melissa, 16, who started out with a Jersey calf when she was eight years old and now has a herd of 17 head.

"Three of those are Holsteins, I've always liked Jerseys, but someone gave her three Holstein calves and they do real well," Margaret said.

Margaret has passed on the importance of making time for volunteer work. Her son Jim who works full time on a farm, does artificial insemination on the side, raises a family, and is a 4-H dairy club leader for at least six years. His wife Marge also helps out.

While Jerseys have always been Margaret's specialty, she adapted to the void left when the 4-H goat leader moved out of state.

"Walt Wurster (extension agent) asks me to take over. I didn't know much about goats, but I learned fast," Margaret said. That was two years ago. Through reading and talking to others, Margaret passed on the knowledge or raising and showing goats to club members.

"People don't realize it, but goats are bringing more than cows now and it costs $75 to breed a goat," Margaret said.

She uses Missy's two Nubian goats as prime examples of their usefulness. The goats are milked and the milk fed to her calves.

"The calves don't get scours and they get beautiful coats of hair," Margaret said.

Ironically, goats themselves do better on cow's milk.

"Raw goat milk can transmit CEA (a form of arthritis) to their young but it is not transmitted to calves," Margaret explained the reasoning for feeding cow's milk to the goats.

Margaret and her husband who is now deceased sold their purebred Jersey herd in 1975.

"We didn't think we'd ever go back into it," Margaret said, "but when Missy became 4-H age (8), she wanted a Jersey."

She gives a proud maternal smile at her granddaughter as she says, "It was Missy who got me back into it. She's a good kid—a real good kid."

Margaret rents out the 30 acres on her farm. Missy, who is the daughter of Jim and Marge, lives about 16 miles from her. "I help out at shows but I'm not going to feed and milk animals twice a day," her grandmother said of Missy's need to find other arrangements for her animals.

Four-year-old Salena Wertz leads one of her aunt Melissa's original Jersey's around the farm. She also led her at the Kimberton Fair this year and can't wait until she is old enough to become a 4-H member. In the meantime, Salena accompanies her grandparents, great grandmother, and Aunt Melissa to shows throughout Chester County and surrounding counties.

DISC MOWERS
with an attitude
New Models 615, 616 and 617

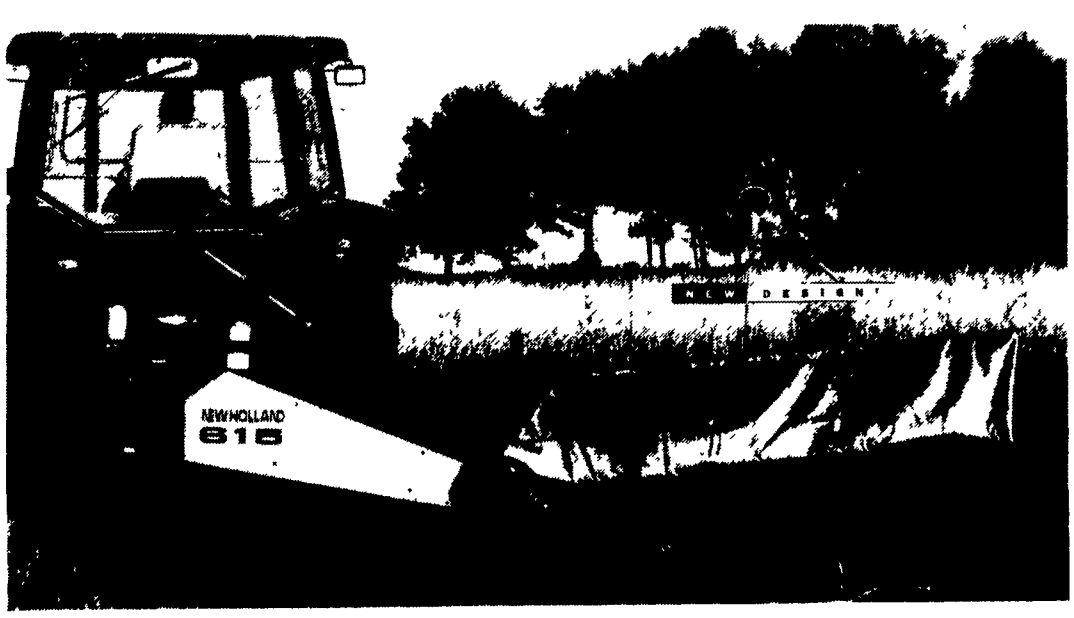
When difficult crop conditions are the name of the game, New Holland disc mowers are designed to play tough. Forget about fire ant hills, gopher mounds and thick, wet grasses – they're no match for the New Holland design

Travel as fast as ground conditions will allow with the new five-six and seven-disc modular cutter-bars. They breeze through the toughest conditions with non-stop, trouble-free cutting for clean, even cut in less time.

Tough-with a quiet side. New Holland disc mowers are redesigned for quieter operation. They're tough on crops, but easy on you.

Strength of design

The New Holland design uses small-diameter, steep-profile discs that act as a "natural lifter" for your crop. Their special shape improves crop flow, reduces streaking, and leaves you with a fluffier swath for improved drying. Smoother profile discs provide better wear and long life. Unlike competitive design, New Holland discs don't have a ribbed surface to wear out. Discs are 3/16" thick and heat-treated for added strength and impact resistance.



Lancaster 4-H'ers Show Market Lambs, Breeding Sheep At Roundup

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County 4-H Roundup held at Lampeter Fairgrounds last week offered Regina Landis a chance to shine in the sheep competition.

The 16-year-old daughter of Abe and Dottie Landis garnered championships in showmanship and fitting, and for her homebred and owned Hampshire breeding sheep that went on to be named supreme champion over all breeds.

Competition was intense. Twelve breeds, with a champion from each, resulted in a showdown for the supreme champion title.

Judge Rodney Gilbert, Delaware Valley College animal science professor, said, "Each bred has its own use and the age differences among so many sheep make it difficult to compare, but the sheep that meets the ideal for its breed is a Hampshire."

"It's the first time I'm showing her. I knew she was exceptional but the competition was tough so I'm really happy," Regina said.

The Landis family has been raising Hampshires for 10 years on their Manheim farm, West View Acres.

"As soon as this one was born, we knew that she was good," Regina said.

The lamb had a hefty start. She weighed 19 pounds at birth compared to the average of 12 pounds.

"It's been our dream to have a head like that," Regina's mom Dottie said of the lamb's perfect markings that conform to the breed's ideal.

The Landis family has been working to build up their flock by keeping careful records. Although Majesty's mother had birthed before, the first lamb was nothing like Majesty. This was the first time the mother was sired with one of the flock's other rams and the family plans to use that ram a lot in future matings.

"He's a jumper," Tiffany said, "It's a lot of work, but it paid off."

The grand champion market lamb was purchased from Tim Fleener of Robesonia. Tiffany walked the lamb one to two miles daily at the family's Strasburg farm.

It is only the second year for Tiffany's participation in 4-H. Although it was the first time Tiffany showed the champion at 4-H Roundup, she showed former champions at Lampeter and Solanco Fairs. The daughter of Gary and Joan Dean, Tiffany raises six crossbred sheep.

Amy Bollinger showed a purebred 140-pound Hampshire to claim the reserve grand champion placing. Although Amy has collected top ribbons at many other fairs, it was the first for the 17-year-old to win at Roundup. The Manheim 4-H'er helps with the family's 22-head flock at their Manheim farm.

Competition against the champion and reserve, which were both heavyweights, included a lightweight champion shown by Laura Newcomer and the reserve by Allison Hughes. The mediumweight champion was shown by Jessica Stoltzfus and the reserve by Eric Unangst. The light heavyweight champion was shown by Radell Peters and the reserve by Regina Landis.

More than 50 competed in showmanship when Regina Landis earned the champion title; the reserve went to Jill Hoffines, 16, who raises 20 Southdowns at the family's farm in Marietta.

Ten first year showmen competed in the novice division. Novice champion was 9-year-old Adam Zurin. Although it is his first year in showing, Adam has watched his sister Sarah compete for a number of years. The siblings raise Suffolks at their parents' (Gary's and Judy's) home in Mount Joy.

The market lamb sale was held Thursday evening following the competition. At the sale, which included 42 lambs, Tiffany Dean's 124-pound champion sold to Ken Musser of Lancaster Level Flo for $2.75 per pound. Amy Bollinger's 140-pound reserve sold to Roger Slusher of Weaver's Insurance for $1.70 per pound.

With her home-bred and owned Hampshire named Majesty, Regina Landis took the supreme champion breeding sheep over all breeds at the Lampeter 4-H Fair. With her are her parents Abe and Dottie Landis and judge Rodney Gilbert, right.

Four Generations

The heifers are boarded at Bucktown Farms, where Missy's dad works, and the cows are boarded a few miles down the road at Bobby Hewitt's farm.

Following her grandmother's instructions, Missy raises only registered Jerseys.

"It's the only way to go. You get more money when you sell them."

Son Jim intercepted, "The price of bull calves doesn't make them worth selling. I sold two bull calves in the spring and ended up with a $3 check, and I had even delivered them. If I had needed to pay for delivery I would have ended up going in the hole."

Margaret shakes her head at the plight of farmers. She said, "When we sold our herd in 1975, we were getting about as much for milk as they do now."

Jim, who was a 4-H'er when he was growing up, is proud that Jerseys are the strongest breed at Chester County 4-H Roundup, but he laments that kids receive little monetary breaks when wanting to purchase 4-H animals.

"This past year, several of my kids got Holsteins because George Strutynski, a Holstein breeder, was willing to give the kids a break. He understands and he is willing to help kids. If they want to promote the breed, other breeders got to realize they should help kids be able to afford an animal."

His mother said, "Most people don't realize it, but when 4-H'ers board their animals, the farmer gets the money for the milk in exchange for boarding. All the kid ends up getting is the prize money.

"But I still say that 4-H is good for the whole family. A 4-H'er never gets bored and having the whole family involved in 4-H gives a better family life. Doing things together makes a closer tie,' Margaret said.

As 4-H leader of the goat club, Margaret gives some instructions on these Nublans to her granddaughter Melissa, right, and 4-H'er Brande Rapp.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

ANSWER — Here's another answer encouraging Doug Bunnell to sew the replacement bags needed for an old hand cranked cyclone seeder. Anne Mitzler, Alum Bank, wrote that she made one in 1970 that is still in use. She instructs: Measure around the base, add the height. Buy a good, strong piece of material. Allow one-inch for a seam. Sew on machine. Tack onto the base. Make straps from material.

ANSWER — Richard Roesing, Beach Lake, was looking for a source for ice jacks. Thanks to Mary Dengler of Middletown, Ohio, for faxing that ice jacks, sometimes called snow guards, are manufactured by Berger Building Products, 805 Pennsylvania Blvd., Feasterville, PA 19053. The toll free number is 1-800-523-8852. The jacks can be purchased in galvanized metal or copper. The Denglers are using copper on a slate roof.

Sheep Share Their Coats In This Fashion Show

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Wear wool in August?

Sheep wear wool year-round, and seem quite comfortable. To show just how beautiful and versatile wool is, 16 4-Her's wearing outfits of at least 75 percent wool led their sheep around the show ring during the Lancaster County 4-H Fair held last week.

Judges Rodney Gilbert, sheep judge, and Jeanette Browrer, 4-H sewing leader, intently scruntized each girl and sheep entered in the leadline competition.

The judges kept careful record of how well each shepherd managed the sheep that she led around the ring. Did the shepherd remain poised and at ease even if the sheep was frisky? Was the sheep well groomed and structually correct for its breed? Was the outfit the shepherd wearing appropriate for her age and size? Did the colors coordinate? How was the outfit accessorized?

The answers to these questions and similar ones determined the winners in both the junior and senior categories.

When the scores were tallied, Sarah Strickler and her lamb took the top award in senior leadline competition. A Solanco High School senior, Sarah modeled a plaid skirt in turquoise, black and cranberry and a black button-down vest.

Michele Newcomer and Kathy Musser placed second and third in the senior category. Fourteen-year-old Michelle wore a wrap around glen plaid skirt with a navy blue sweater. Her market lamb sported a matching glen plaid scarf and felt hat.

Third-place Kathy Musser modeled a teal skirt and off-white blazer. A coordinating wool plaid scarf was tied around her Shropshire ewe.

Junior division winners were first-place Hope Long, second-place Nicole Hess, and third-place Katye Allen.

Eleven-year-old Hope from New Providence wore a red suit and led a Hampshire lamb.

Nicole Hess, also 11, modeled a brown tweed skirt and blazer with her sheep named Dottie. Both wore matching hair ribbons and flowers.

Katye Allen, 9, led her Cheviot, which she said is "just my size." Katye's plaid skirt and vest with red tights imitated a Country House look.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

Recently, I was given a book on the Amish. There are some 40 chapters and half of them deal with the different jobs on a farm. The others deal more with their culture.

I found it very typical that there were so many kinds of work mentioned. Farmers must have a variety of skills to manage a farm. All of my life I've lived on a farm and never a day goes by but there is another job to tackle.

As the oldest of seven girls, I worked in the fields to help my father. There were potatoes to be picked up, loose hay to be put in the mow and always tobacco to hoe. My father raised 15 acres of tobacco one year and the only job that I did not have to do was spear the mature crop. Luckily, our school started when the tobacco was ready to be hauled to the tobacco shed.

The book covers not only planting, hoeing, spearing and stripping tobacco but also hauling manure, butchering, chopping wood and filling silo. Women are mentioned only as bread bakers and as good cooks. Other subjects covered are courting, schooling, weddings and visiting.

In my youth we did a lot of visiting of friends and relatives. It was not necessary to call ahead of time — actually we had no phone. Nowadays, it seems that everything is planned ahead of time. We are afraid that we will disrupt some plans if we simply appear at a house unannounced.

Telephones can be a great convenience or they can be a disturbance as we are called away from a meal to answer a salesman or saleswoman. Many calls seem to have a common thread. Do you need new windows? Do you have a wet basement? Do you need insurance? Maybe the Amish are wise to not have their phones in their homes but rather out in the barn.

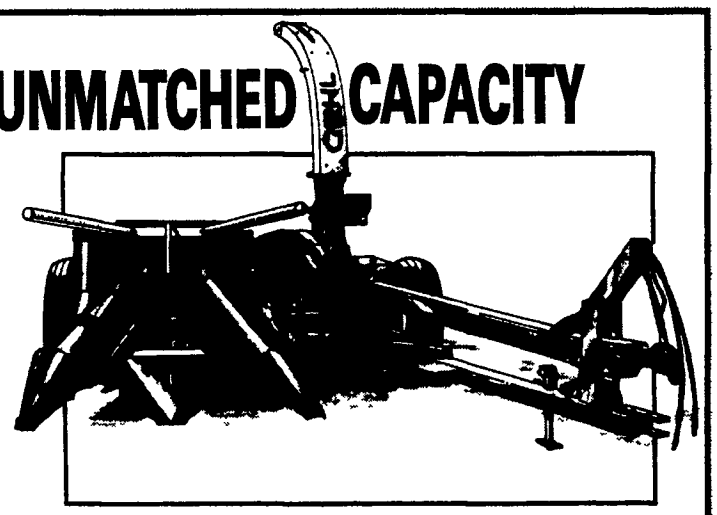
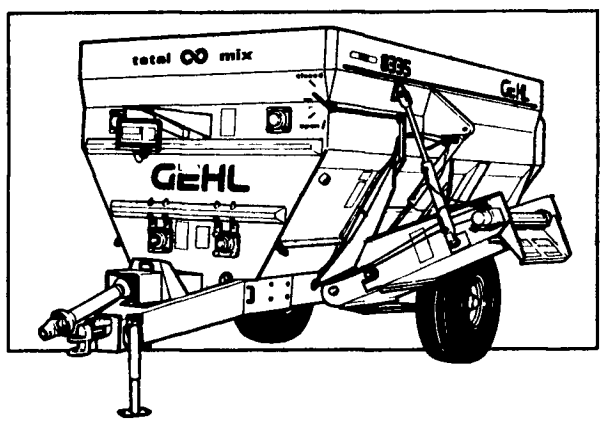
GEHL®

UNMATCHED CAPACITY



Gehl forage harvesters get the job done faster with these performance features:
- Exclusive Auto-Max Load-Sensing System – Increase capacity by up to 20%. Lets you operate at top capacity without the fear of downtime due to overloading.
- Metal-Stop Metal Detector – Prevents machine damage and hardware disease.
- In-head Hydraulic Knife Sharpener – Lets you sharpen knives in the field.
- Patented One-Sided Cutterbar Adjustment – Makes adjusting the cutterbar quick and easy.
- Three Models To Choose From – Including the largest capacity pull-type forage harvester on the market.

TMR "Total Mix" Mixer Feeders



"Total Mix" TMR mixer feeders let you mix more long-stemmed hay into your ration - up to 30% by weight depending on hay type and moisture content

- "Hay - slicer auger "- Incorporates knife assemblies into the two bottom augers.
- Better mixing action - Four-auger design creates a double figure-8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Five sizes - 150 to 455 cubic feet capacities.

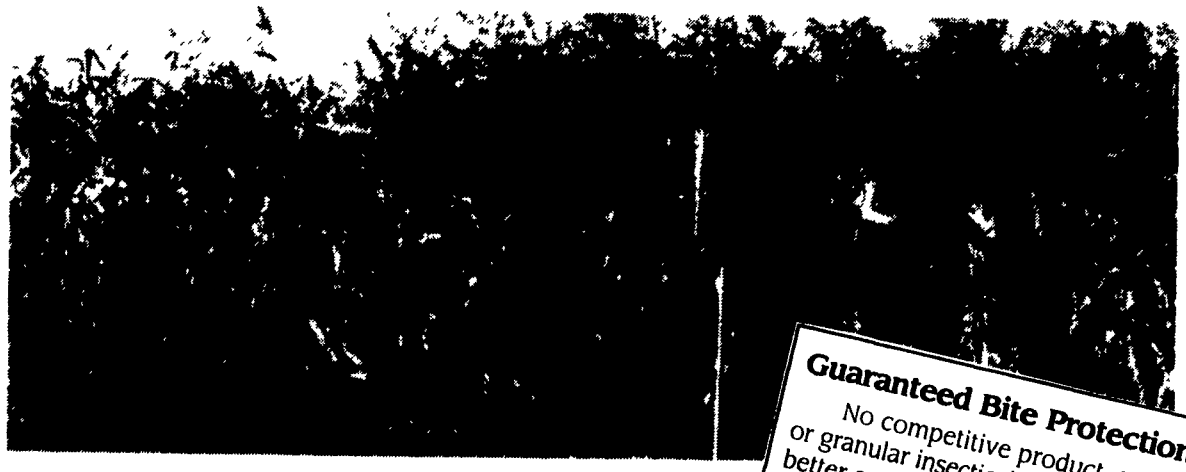
Northrup King Bt Hybrids – The Best Season-long Insurance You Can Plant.



Northrup King researchers field tested Bt corn plants at over 500 locations in 1995... more than all other companies combined. Side-by-side comparisons were dramatic.

Guaranteed Bite Protection.
No competitive product, spray or granular insecticide will give you better season-long control of European corn borer than our Bt corn hybrids. Guaranteed[1] Or Northrup King will refund your seed purchase price. See your dealer for details.

SANDOZ SEEDS ®

Northrup King is on the leading edge of research and technology to bring you Bt corn hybrids with the most effective yield protection available against the ravages of European Corn borer. All Bt hybrids are not the same. Our new Bt hybrids include a unique gene that provides extremely reliable control of this pest throughout the plant, throughout the growing season.

What is Bt?

Bt stands for Bacillus thuringiensis, a naturally occurring soil bacteria. This bacteria produces an insecticidal crystal protein (ICP) lethal to certain insects. The Yield Gard™ gene in Northrup King corn borer resistant hybrids comes from a Bt strain that produces proteins controlling the Lepidopteran family of insects.

How does Bt protect yields?

Northrup King proprietary technology has added a YieldGard gene from Bt bacteria to selected corn hybrids. This gene programs the plants to produce the Bt ICP in plant tissue. This lets the corn plants, themselves, control European corn borer.

When a corn borer larva ingests an ICP, the protein causes the insect to stop feeding and then die.

Because the corn plant produces its own defense, protection lasts throughout the growing season. Plants continue to produce the ICP as long as they grow. (By the time plants stop growing, they have already reached full yield potential. Any corn borer in your field at that time is no longer considered a yield threat.)

Research trials have shown this ICP also provides our Bt hybrids with control of Southwestern corn borer, plus some protection against fall armyworm and corn earworm.

NEW N4242Bt
(X4334CBR) RM: 99

- Just as consistent and high yielding as N4242
- Our Bt technology gives this hybrid extremely reliable resistance to European corn borer throughout the growing season
- Also offers some protection against fall armyworm and corn earworm
- Adapts to the same areas and management practices as N4242

YieldGard

NEW N4640Bt
(X4734CBR) RM: 102

- All the agronomic advantages of N4640
- Northrup King Bt technology adds the most effective, season-long resistance to European corn borer available
- Also provides some protection against fall armyworm and corn earworm
- Responds well on most soils under the same management as N4640

YieldGard

NEW N6800Bt
(X6534CBR) RM: 110

- All the agronomic advantages of N6800, including gray leaf spot protection
- Our Bt technology adds highly reliable, season-long resistance to European corn borer
- Provides some protection against fall armyworm and corn earworm
- Performs well on most soils under the same management as N6800

Case Takes Note Of What Customers Think

RACINE, Wis. — It can take less than seven minutes for one customer to change the way a multibillion dollar corporation and its dealers do business.

That's about the amount of time it takes to complete a Case Corporation worldwide survey mailed to every customer who purchased new Case IH equipment during the past 18 months.

"It really affirms the old saying of the pen being mightier than the sword," said Len Hoerneman, Case director, customer satisfaction. "To one degree or another, every customer responding to the survey has had an impact on how we do things at Case, from the dealership level to the corporate offices.

And with more than 50,000 customers responding to a survey on their latest equipment purchase experience, there are a lot of voices to be heard.

According to Hoerneman, the survey is part of an ongoing initiative at Case to maximize customer satisfaction by building the best dealership organization, designing and manufacturing superior products, and providing unparalleled product support.

"The surveys are designed to be very thorough and provide information that leads to direct action," Hoerneman said. "We are not gathering information just for the sake of knowing; we're gathering it for the sake of doing."

While the customer satisfaction measurement and improvement process is still in its early stages, Bob Townsend, Case customer satisfaction manager, North America, said Case and its dealers are already taking action based on survey results:

• Product design and manufacturing: Customer input is driving improvements to current equipment models and development of future products. Townsend said this includes areas such as reliability, operator comfort, and machine performance across product lines.

• Product support: Case dealerships have used customer input to improve in various ways, such as keeping longer store hours, sending more personnel to training courses and reducing the time it takes to complete repairs. Case is working toward helping dealerships achieve these by providing more training opportunities and technical publications, and by improving the availability of parts.

• Improved customer follow-up: The importance of better follow-up with customers is more evident as Case IH dealerships make it a solid practice to be proactive with customers.

"There are numerous examples of changing for the customer throughout all levels of the organization," said Townsend. "Based on the data collected through the survey, changes are being made to improve all aspects of our customers' equipment ownership experiences."

Bower Retires From Case

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — After more than 35 years as sales representative and territory manager with Case IH, Harold Bower has decided to retire.

Bower, who lives in Mechanicsburg, is a Pennsylvania native and has held territory positions with Case in Albany, N.Y.; Cherry Hill, N.J.; and in Harrisburg. He has been in his most recent territory in the Harrisburg region for nearly 15 years.

There he was responsible for the highest volume of sales east of the Mississippi.

Bower was graduated from Lycoming College in Williamsport with a bachelor's degree in business in 1960. He began with International Harvester in February 1961. His assignments included work as a retail salesman in Ephrata and industrial sales representative and zone manager in Harrisburg.

In July 1966, Bower became district parts supervisor in Pittsburgh and moved onto Camden, N.J., also as district parts supervisor. In November 1969, Bower became industrial sales supervisor in Albany, then became industrial sales manager in November 1973. He stayed in Albany in supervisory positions until November 1978, when he became manager of district operations in Harrisburg. In July 1982 he became manager of district operations in Syracuse, then became ag territory manager in November 1982 in Harrisburg.

Bower will continue to live in Mechanicsburg.

Ag Marketing Conference In October

NAZARETH (Northampton Co.) — The Penn/Jersey Extension Partnership, a collaborative educational effort of Penn State and Rutgers Extension, is hosting a daylong Agricultural Marketing Conference on October 11 in Bethlehem.

The conference, "Marketing, The Pathway to Success," will focus on practical marketing strategies, techniques, and methods that individuals can use.

Farmers have always been capable and adaptable in producing wholesome and abundant products. Because producers have been so successful, the profit using normal marketing channels has been less than rewarding in recent years.

Utilizing alternative marketing methods, added value processing, and alternative products can significantly boost profitability.

Subjects for the conference will include small group marketing cooperatives, branded product marketing, farm cheese and other farm manufactured value added products, exotic meat marketing, "premium quality" product development, market development, and market surveying.

Discussion will center on practical information including details on direct marketing, customer satisfaction and loyalty development, marketing mini-cooperative creation and operation, production coordination, and labeling.

Speakers will include successful producers and marketers from several northeastern states. There also will be a product sampling hospitality hour and trade show.

The cost is $50 per person, which includes meals, material, and activity costs.

More information, including brochures, registration information and Trade Show details, are available by calling the Northampton County Extension Office at (610) 746-1970.

SoyDiesel To Get Turnpike Test

SALISBURY, Md. — Later this year, part of the huge automotive diesel fleet of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission is scheduled to power up with SoyDiesel.

Michael D. McClurkin, the commission's director of equipment operation, told a meeting of transportation and energy industry officials in Baltimore recently that he was sufficiently encouraged by an earlier and more modest SoyDiesel project to expand the alternative fuel demonstration to a larger segment of the commission's diesel fleet.

The SoyDiesel demonstrations on the turnpike are being supported by the Pennsylvania Soybean Promotion Board, the agency which administers the national soybean checkoff program in the state.

McClurkin told of his agency's past and planned experiences with SoyDiesel at a June EPACT Options '96 conoference in Baltimore. The conference, attended by an estimated 60 fleet managers, fuel providers and state energy policy officials from across the Northeast, was designed to present biodiesel — in this case, SoyDiesel — as a viable alternative fuel and to detail the rules, regulations and mandates of the Energy Policy Act of 1992 (EPACT), a complex piece of legislation to be implemented over a 10-year period beginning Sept. 1 of this year.

The conference focused on how SoyDiesel can be used as a component of a strategy by the transportation industry to meet the demands and criteria of the Energy Policy and Clean Air Acts.

McClurkin, accompanied to the meeting by Jack Doyle, his manager of fleet equipment systems, said that last January, during a winter deep freeze, a pickup truck and two dump trucks were filled with a blend of 80 percent petroleum diesel and 20 percent SoyDiesel, an ester-based oxygenated fuel derived from soybean oil.

SoyDiesel lowers emissions of smoke and particulate matter, requires no modifications to most diesel motors, is biodegradable and non-toxic, and requires no special handling or storage.

Except for a thickening of the fuel in one of the vehicles because of the sub-freezing temperatures, the demonstration was without flaw, McClurkin reported.

Later this year, the 5,000-gallon fuel tanks at two of the Pennsylvania Turnpike's 21 refueling stations will be filled with a 20 percent SoyDiesel blend for use by all diesel vehicles using those stations.

The fleet of the Pennsylvania Turnpike totals about 3,000 vehicles. Of those, about 75 percent are diesels.

Guernsey, Milking Shorthorn Take Top Bedford Fair Honors

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — It might not have been surprising, judging the quality of the cow, but it was a new twist to the open dairy show at the Bedford County Fair.

A Milking Shorthorn, owned by James C. Young of Horizon Farms in New Enterprise, received the reserve supreme champion. Young's Innisfail R. B. Etta is not a newcomer to awards.

She received the reserve All American this year and was also junior champ at the Canadian Royal Fair.

"Etta" also took Milking Shorthorn champion honors at the district show held in Martinsburg in early August and was Milking Shorthorn champion at the Martinsburg Dairy Show.

Young also had the reserve Milking Shorthorn champion at that show.

Young, a graduate of Big Spring High School in Carlisle, plans to attend Penn State Altoona Campus to study dairy production in the dairy science program.

He has 10 to 15 dairy cows of his own and Horizon Farms had five reserve All Americans last year.

For Etta's honor at the Bedford Fair, Young received a $100 check from Bedford Agway.

Taking supreme honors was Aaron Gable of Snider's Homestead Farms in New Enterprise.

Gable's Guerndale Fayette Robin was qualified as being "very dairy" by the judge.

It marks the second year Gable, who has won numerous dairy farm awards, had shown Robin as the Supreme Bedford Fair Champion.

She placed second at Harrisburg last year, was reserve grand champion at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, was second in All American competition, and placed fourth at Louisville.

Gable's only complaint about his outstanding Guernsey is that she has produced mostly bulls. To date, only one heifer will attempt to follow in her footsteps.

Robin, a 5-year-old, also took top honors in the Guernsey division of the Martinsburg Dairy Show and the District Show.

A check for $300 was presented to Gable by Bedford Agway.

Other contenders for the supreme and reserve awards at the Bedford Fair were A.K. Mohr of New Enterprise with a 3-year-old, Rolaine Jerseys with a 2-year-old, Five Forks Farm in Clearville with a 3-year-old Red and White, Black Key Mountain of Mt. Union with a 5-year-old Ayrshire, and Nick Burket, Curryville, with a Brown Swiss spring calf.

Judges were Alan Hostetter of Lebanon County and Dave Trotter of Enon Valley.

Awards were presented by Bedford County's dairy princess, Becky Carlin.

Mellott Is FFA, 4-H Dairy Show Champion

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co.
Correspondent

SHIPPENSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Larissa Mellott should be happy with her performance during the Southcentral District FFA and 4-H Dairy Show held at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds.

The St. Thomas girl was the big winner during the Brown Swiss competition at the show. In fact, she swept all the major awards in that division.

Mellott was chosen as the champion Brown Swiss owner-breeder. Her senior 3-year-old La-Mel-Lo Trad Rad Emmylou was Brown Swiss grand champion and her senior 2-year-old, We-Gotta Ensign Fiette, was the reserve grand champion.

Michelle Ocker of Shippensburg took the remaining major Ayrshire awards. Her dry cow Masonic Homes Jade Megan was the grand champion and her fall yearling, Ockerdale Reliable Julie Joy, was the reserve champion.

The grand champion Guernsey was Sugardrop Transmit Pooh, the spring calf of Christopher Goetz of Mercersburg.

Dairy Goat Roundup A Quality Show

KIMBERTON (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Goat Roundup was held at the Kimberton Fairgrounds on Wednesday, July 24.

A total of 17 project goats were shown and eight 4-H youth participated.

This year the show was divided into two breed classes — Alpines and other breeds combined.

Deborah Dietrich, Berks County 4-H extension agent and a former 4-H Dairy Goat Club member, placed the animals and instructed 4-H'ers in how to improve their showing and fitting techniques.

In the Alpine Class, Jessica Bohmier, New London, captured senior and grand champion with her beautiful 3- to 5-year-old doe, Honeynut. She also received the reserve senior and reserve grand title with a yearling doe in milk, Mocha.

Dolly, a 4- to 12-month-old kid, was the junior champion for Jessica Bohmier, with Zachary DuVall, Lincoln University, winning the reserve junior ribbon with his 4- to 12-month-old kid, Dawn.

Jason Wagner, Spring City, won top honors in the other breeds combined class when his yearling LaMancha doe in milk, Valerie, was named senior and grand champion. Veronica Bates, Gradyville, was the reserve senior and reserve grand champion with Buttercup, a 3- to 5-year-old Nubian doe.

The junior champion in this division went to Melissa Wertz, Phoenixville, with Chrissy, an outstanding 12- to 24-month-old Nubian kid. Veronica Bates received the reserve junior champion award with her under 12- to 24-month-old Nubian kid, Midnight.

The highlight of the roundup was when the judge selected Jessica Bohmier's grand champion Alpine doe, Honeynut, for best in show honors and Jason Wagner's LaMancha Valerie for the reserve best in show ribbon.

In the fitting and showing competition, Jason Wagner, Spring City, was the senior champion (for members over 14 years old) for fitting and showing. In the junior competition, Veronica Bates, Gradyville, was first for both fitting and showing.

Joseph Batchelder, a first-year member from Glen Mills, received the first place award in that division for fitting and showing. Andrew DuVall, Lincoln University, won a blue ribbon for fitting and showing his Alpine kid as a Cloverbud, a pre-4-H designation.

Deb Dietrich, the judge, complemented the exhibitors on how well they had prepared and shown their goats. Throughout the show she continually offered suggestions in a very positive manner to the 4-H'ers on how they could improve their skills.

Chester 4-H Beef Attends Goshen Fair

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — Chester County 4-H Beef Club members attended the annual Goshen Fair Steer and Heifer Show held here Saturday, Aug. 3.

Judge for the show was Chad Cash, a Penn State graduate and Angus breeder from York County. The evening turned out to be a blue ribbon night for several 4-H members.

These members have worked hard to achieve their goals by breeding, raising, and showing their home-raised steers and heifers. In the Angus heifer division, local winners included, Class 1 & 2, Kasey McAllister of Spring City. Class 3 winner was Bennett Walton of Coatesville. Grand and reserve champion Angus heifer honors went to Kasey McAllister.

Market steer classes, local winners included in the lightweight division, 1. Phillip McAllister of Spring City. Light heavyweight division winners included Kasey McAllister. Mediumweight division winners included Bennett Walton of Coatesville, 2. Adam Byrne of Nottingham. Heavyweight division winners included Becky Byrne of Nottingham. Capturing the grand champion steer, honors went to first year member Bennett Walton, Coatesville. Reserve grand champion steer honors went to Kasey McAllister, Spring City.

Results of the showmanship competition are, in the senior division, Kasey McAllister. In the intermediate division, winners were 1. Phillip McAllister and 2. Becky Byrne. In the junior division, winners were 1. Adam Byrne and 2. Bennett Walton.

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

It's important that you know your silo needs maintenance. Your silo will not fall when it's empty. Please check your silo for damage or check your insurance policy.

Now is the time to check your unloaders, cables and silo walls. Cables should be replaced every 10 years.

For best results, check your distributor & pipe for holes before silo filling

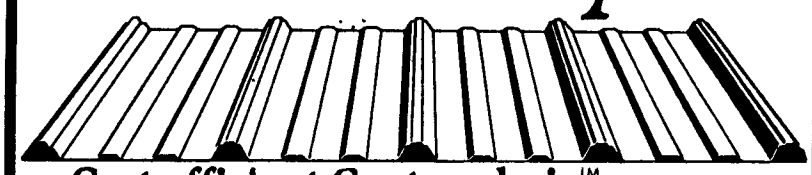
Rural Economy



Cost-efficient Centurydrain™ roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

The Best of the Best

The Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality coating represents the best of the best in the Wheeling Corrugating line of premium galvanized roofing and siding. Every panel that carries the 2 ounce coating assures you are getting the toughest, the most durable, the most corrosion resistant galvanized sheet available in today's marketplace.

2oz. Seal of Quality Wheeling

Genuine Old-Time Quality

Every Wheeling 2 oz sheet is manufactured from heavy gauge steel, topped with an extra thick zinc coating, and formed into profiles that contribute strength and good looks Build with a Wheeling 2 oz sheet and you'll be working with the kind of durability and dependability that's been a standard in the industry for almost 100 years

The Proof is in the Process

The performance behind the Wheeling 2 oz Seal of Quality is possible because of Wheeling's patented Cook Norteman manufacturing process This technology allows a more consistent quality product, and a more uniform coating with unsurpassed zinc adhesion The process takes more handling and more time, but the end result is a super premium panel that has its own limited 20 year performance warranty

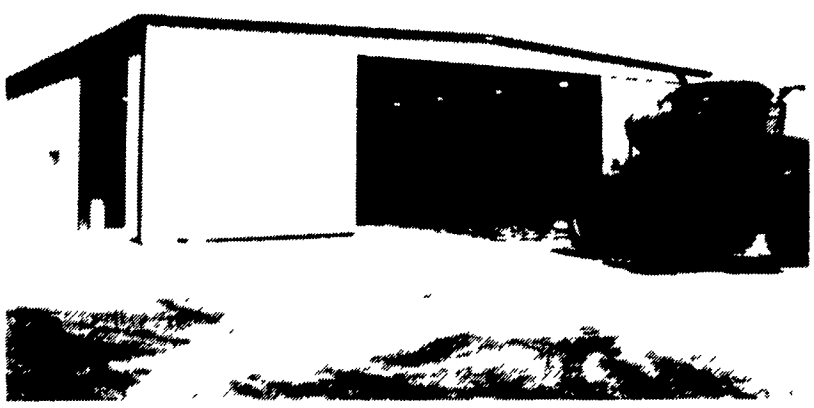
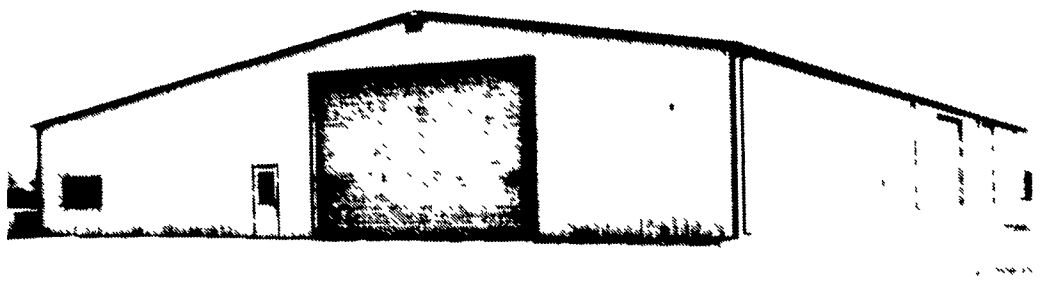
BUTLER™ RURAL-BUILDER

No matter what type of building you're looking for shop, retail store, community building or storage facility - we build durable Butler® rural steel buildings with attractive architectural appeal.

Butler shop buildings are built to give you years of high-use value, low maintenance and maximum comfort. Solid, practical design and rugged steel construction make Butler buildings durable and functional for years to come

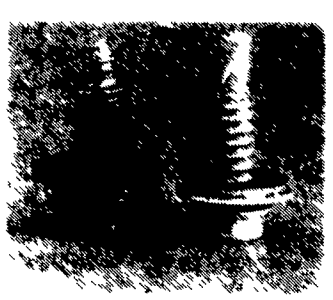




Outside: Your Choice

The appearance of your new building is a critical factor. You just tell us what you'd like and we can build it!

Our structural systems are designed to give you complete freedom in planing the size and shape of your building



Products that Perform from the Building Systems Industry Leader

You can count on Butler to provide the best materials available.

For example, our standard exterior coating for painted panels is Butler-Cote® 500 FP finishing system, a full strength, 70% Kynar 500® & Hylar 5000® coating. Our coating will resist chalking and fading better than industry standard coatings.

Our fasteners represent another area where Butler offers more for your money. The Scrubolt™ fastener by Butler, available on the Butlerib wall and roof systems and the Shadowrib® wall system, is larger and more resistant to the pull-out forces of wind than industry standard fasteners.

"THE NEED FOR QUALITY FEED AND GRAIN STORAGE IS GREATER TODAY THAN AT ANY TIME IN RECENT HISTORY!"

How can we help to make sure that you get a quality corn storage unit constructed before the expected rush in August and September?

Give us a call to discuss early discounts, financing, and unloaders.

Listen to what these farmers from VA say about their switch to a poured concrete silo for their hi-moisture shelled corn storage: "Even during the hottest summer in our memory, the shelled corn from our poured concrete silo has kept its bright yellow color and has not heated. We have the best hi-moisture shelled corn ever."

HOW BIG A COOLER DO I REALLY NEED?

Depends on a lot of things. But one thing's certian. Mueller makes the milk cooler that's right for your operation. And it's built to last. So it'll have high resale value the day you need a bigger cooler. For help deciding how big a milk cooler you need, contact your local Mueller dealer.

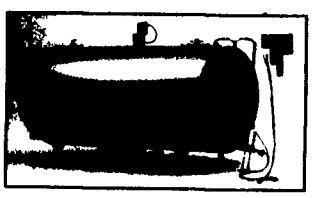
And...

MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

Contact your Mueller distributor for further comparisons.

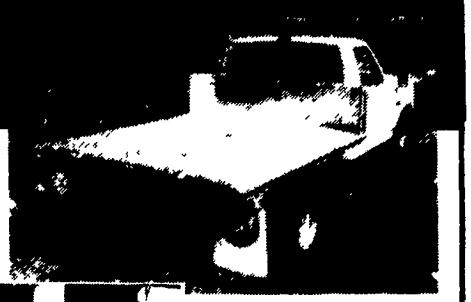
IN ALUMINUM BODIES
EBY BUILDS IT



M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24', landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- LANDSCAPE BODIES - Lengths to 12', We'll build to your specs!

Let EBY custom build one for you.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer customer options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business - building bodies to haul it is ours.

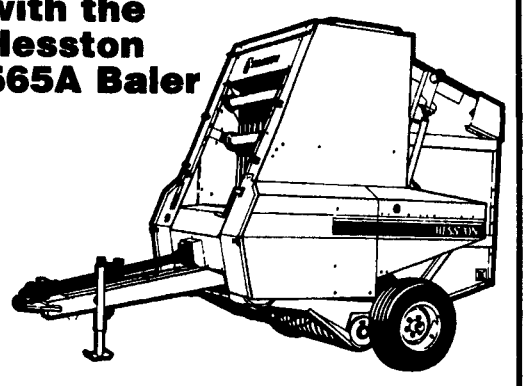
"One-Touch-on-the-Clutch" with the Hesston 565A Baler



Hesston presents the Model 565A, a heavy-duty round baler with the newest technology available. With the adjustable hydraulic density control and over 90% belt coverage, the 565A Automatic Baler makes uniform extra heavy weight bales up to 75" in diameter and 61.5" wide. This 565A Baler takes the guess work out of making high density perfect shaped bales... bales with long storage life.

Choose From Hesston 530, 540 and 565A Competitively Priced Balers

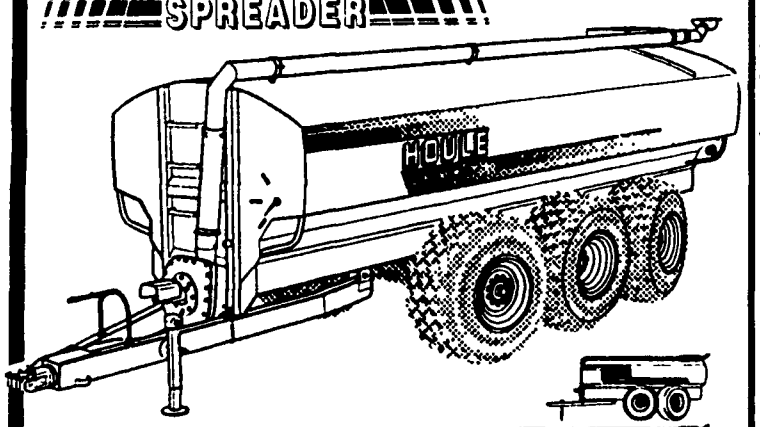
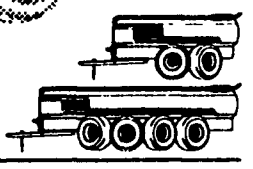
QUALITY EQUIPMENT - DEPENDABLE SERVICE
A Trusted Name For 23 Years

HOULE

LIQUID MANURE SPREADER

WITH FLOTATION TIRES TO MINIMIZE SOIL COMPACTION





4 - 6 OR 8 WHEEL SPREADERS WITH POWER STEERING - 3850 TO 9500 US GAL.

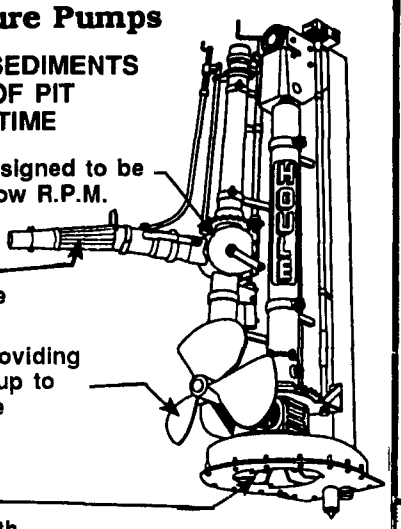
SPREADERS WITH SINGLE AXLE OR TANDEM - 2350 TO 6500 US GAL.

- "V" shape bottom for more complete clean out.
- Standard exterior finish: epoxy primer and urethane paint.
- Low profile tank for maximum visibility and stability.

HOULE AGI-POMPE®

Liquid Manure Pumps

AGITATES BOTTOM SEDIMENTS AND SURFACE OF PIT AT THE SAME TIME



Rotative directional valve designed to be operated while P.T.O. is at low R.P.M.

Powerful nozzle to slice and agigate the crust of manure covering the surface of large holding area.

24" dia. mixing propeller: Providing a full time bottom agitation up to 21 500 US G.P.M. even while loading a spreader.

20" dia. impeller with self-cleaning blades.

Available in 5 versions for concrete pits.

Calumet SPREADER TANKS

- 2,250-6,000 Gal.
- Heavy Duty Undercarriage w/5 Year Warranty
- 10 Year Tank Warranty

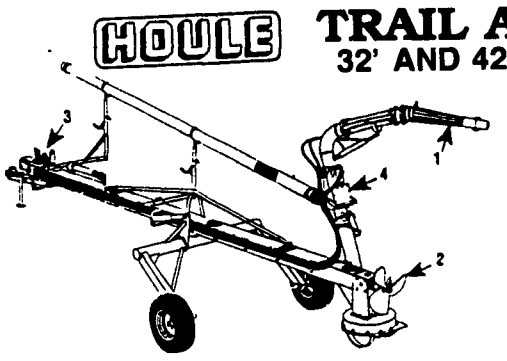
Available With Rear Slinger Or Front Mount Pump

Calumet VACUUM TANK

- 1500 to 5000 Gal.
- 10 Year Tank Warranty
- 4 Shank Rear Injector
- Commercial Duty Shut-Off And Vac Pump
- 28 Ply Flotation Tires

HOULE TRAIL AGI-POMPE®

32' AND 42' FOR LAGOONS



Gear box oil bath protected by a greaseable 3 seals mechanism on each shaft.

AVAILABLE WITH MULTIPURPOSE OPTION TO ALSO CLIMB INTO CONCRETE PITS UP TO 14' DEEP

GREAT PERFORMANCE IN HOG OR DAIRY MANURE

1-Highly articulated nozzle designed to slice and break the top crust from above the manure level as the propeller homogenises the liquid with the remaining floating chunks.
2-24" dia. mixing propeller providing full time agitation up to 21,500 US G.P.M. even when loading a spreader
3-Hydraulic controls can be operated from tractor seat.
4-Rotative directional valve designed to be operated at low R.P.M. without stopping the P.T.O.

TOUGH HAY?

KNOCK IT DOWN, FAST

The new "1411" Discbine® disc mower-conditioner features eight discs spinning at 3,000 rpm to cut easily through your toughest conditions. Thick, tangled and wet crops are a breeze to cut. And, the new tongue design lets you make over-square corners and operate the "1411" directly behind the tractor, so even field obstacles won't slow you down!

See the best today... the "1411" Discbine® disc mower-conditioner.

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Is Ready To Deliver A Quality New Gehl Forage Box For Fall Harvesting

YOUR BEST FORAGE BOX VALUE

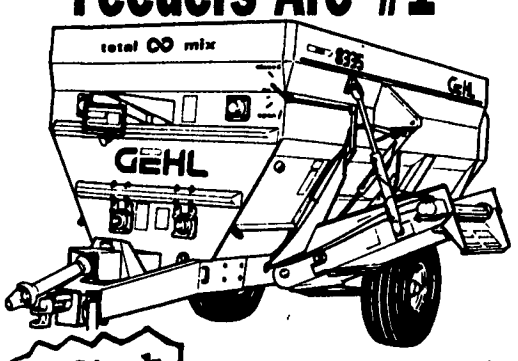
Gehl's new BU980 Self-unloading forage box has been redesigned for improved performance and durability Features include:

- True variable-speed drive for infinite unloading speeds
- Single lever control
- Improved beater design
- Stronger drive chain and reinforced roof
- Standard highway light package
- Optional folding 18-inch conveyor extension

GEHL.

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc. has this Quality Gehl Mixer Feeder On Our Lot Ready For Delivery!

Gehl TMR Mixer Feeders Are #1



Nothing can maximize the return on investment in your dairy or beef feeding operation like a Total Mixed Ration (TMR) feeding system. And nothing makes TMR work better than a Gehl mixer feeder. Here's why:

- Better Mixing Action — Unique four-auger design creates a double figure-8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Energy Efficient — Planetary drive system requires less horsepower.
- Built To Last — Patented star couplers absorb shock loads by allowing the bottom augers to flex, providing long service life.
- Six Sizes — From 150 to 500 cubic feet mixing capacities
- Three Styles — Trailer type, stationary and truck-mounted units to fit your operation.

In Stock Ready For Delivery

GEHL.

See Us Soon For A Good Deal!

In fact, you'd probably have a hard time convincing Gehl Mix-All® owners to even look at anything else. And why should they?

The Mix-All's big 21-inch wide hammermill features 66 reversible thin hammers that cut, rather than pound the feed to deliver a more consistent grind and ensure uniform mixing for a better feed conversion rate.

Gehl's self-contained hydraulic system is designed-in, not added on. It provides the precision of infinitely variable in-feed attachment control to match tractor power for greater grinding capacity. Plus you get fast, smooth, trouble-free unloading with greater reliability.

And a wide variety of options and attachments lets you custom-ize your Mix-All to fit any operation.

Most Mix-All owners will never buy another.

KUBOTA CUTS YOU A DEAL

90 DAYS - SAME AS CASH

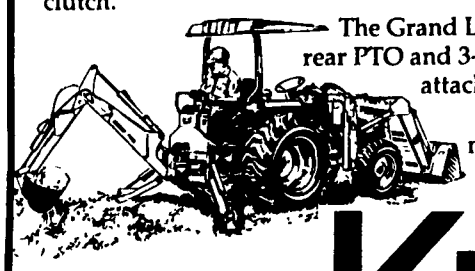
ON APPROVED CREDIT THROUGH AUGUST 31, 1996 ON THE T, G AND GF SERIES

THE ONLY THING SHAKING IS THE COMPETITION

Introducing Kubota's new Grand L-Series diesel tractors. Four compact models with 25 to 37 PTO HP. Designed to take on any job that demands power and mobility.

Available in 2WD and 4WD, the Grand L-Series features Kubota's new ETVCS diesel engines that run quiet with cleaner emissions. Operator friendly with power steering, tilt wheel and enclosed muffler for greater visibility. The roomy flat operator's deck is ISO mounted to greatly reduce vibration.

The Grand L-Series has a choice of transmissions, the new fully synchronized main transmission with Synchro-Shuttle allowing shifting-on-the-go through the 4 main gears or the new GST (Glide Shift Transmission) which allows shifting-on-the-go through all 8 speeds, both run smoothly and efficiently with the new larger diameter, larger capacity clutch.



The Grand L-Series powerful hydraulic system, independent rear PTO and 3-point hitch hook up to a wide range of quick-attach implements to handle any job.

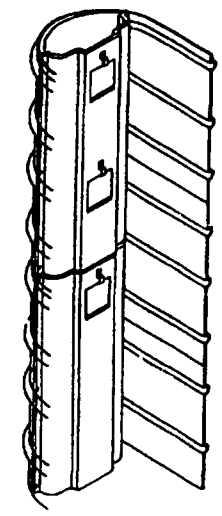
CLEAN SILO CHUTE

Innovative Design and Outstanding Performance combine to make this the premier system on the market.



Field tested to fine tune the silage flow from the unloader to the discharge point, eliminating dirty silo chutes.

Durable polyethylene means less resistance and silage build-up.

Easy installation .
Retrofits many existing chutes.
